

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Ingleby Greenhow Parish Registers.

INTRODUCTION.

The parish of Ingleby Greenhow, situated in the North Riding of Yorkshire, the District of Cleveland, and the Wapentake of Langbargh, includes the three ancient manors and modern townships of Ingleby, Battersby, and Greenhow. In it are the two villages of Ingleby and Battersby, but in the township of Greenhow there is not even a hamlet. The population of the parish in 1881 was 391. According to the maps of the Ordnance Survey it contains 7002 acres, viz., Ingleby 2288, Battersby 1230, and Greenhow 3484. Occupying in its lower levels an indentation carved by geological agencies out of the western flank of the North East Yorkshire Moors or Cleveland Hills, it extends in its higher reaches far up the slopes, or "banks" as they are locally termed, and includes a considerable area of moorland, at one point even dipping down into and embracing one farm in the picturesque vale of Basedale, once the secluded and peaceful station of a Cistercian Priory, on the site of which stands the modern shooting-box of Lord Boyne, just outside the limits of the parish.

A land surface thus diversified is, as might be anticipated, not without geological interest. The hard stratum of light sandstone, which constitutes the local base of the Inferior Oolite, has served as a protective coping during the process of denudation, and stands out in bold relief on every side, except where the valley opens westwards to the plain. Even on this side the remarkable cone of Roseberry Topping, the ancient Odinsberg, stands as a giant sentinel some three miles distant, bearing aloft on its summit a fragment of the sandstone, as if in thanksgiving for the safety due to it in the times of glacial destruction. As the eye looks from Roseberry, and, having wandered round the valley in which Ingleby lies, reaches a point directly southwards, it rests upon the "Wain Stones,"* huge pillars of the same rock forming a striking instance of the manner in which a hard bed of stone is first undermined, and afterwards bit by bit shaken from its place. The same fact is realised on looking round the "banks" in our own parish, over which are scattered blocks, some perhaps as large as the well-known "Bowder Stone" of Borrowdale, which have fallen from the cliffs above in process of centuries. In the neighbouring vale of Farndale stand a farmhouse and buildings, said to have been entirely constructed from one of these blocks.

* We make bold to suggest that this name does not signify "waggon-stones" as hitherto assumed, but "Woden's Stones," (cf. Wednesday).

This hard stratum of Inferior Oolite has been quarried in Ingleby Park Wood to a considerable extent. It is however too often greatly depreciated in value as a building stone by fragments of wood and particles of carbonised vegetable matter. The softer rock which immediately underlies the building stone yields fine specimens of Equisetites columnaris in an upright position, as when growing, at Rudd Scar and Blue Mells. The beds of the Upper and Middle Lias run round the parish in a regular series, and are all of them more or less well exposed. The Serpentinus zone or jet-rock, which had been wrought to some extent in more ancient times, has been mined very considerably during the present century. At the horizon of the Serpentinus beds a line of mounds of shale composed of the refuse brought to the surface by the mining operations, runs round the "banks," and at one point, just outside the bounds of the parish, the hill-side had been so much undermined by the jet-workings that a huge landslip occurred, and a portion of the parish of Bilsdale subsided into the parish of Ingleby, bringing with it a considerable length of the highway connecting Stokesley and Bilsdale, a catastrophe which resulted in a lawsuit as to which parish was to remake the road. Some years ago much of the celebrated "real Whitby jet" was obtained from this neighbourhood, but now it is obtained, we believe, more economically from abroad, and this industry has ceased in our immediate neighbourhood. The Spinatus beds, so remarkable as a source of mineral wealth in Cleveland, are not here rich enough to repay working under present circumstances. They have however been opened upon in one or two places, and about the year 1866 some amount of ironstone was obtained from Ingleby Park Wood.

The less elevated portions of the parish rest upon the Lower Middle and Lower Lias, but these rocks do not show themselves at the surface, being overlaid by glacial deposits, which in some places are of considerable thickness. Messrs. Tate and Blake* state that "the Boulder-clay scarcely reaches higher than 350 feet in the North Riding," and Dr. Geikie† says "the high moorlands of eastern Yorkshire appear to have risen as an insular tract above the ice-sheet; for the boulder-clay advances up the valleys that indent the northern face of the Jurassic table-land, but ceases about a height of 800 feet, and the table-land itself is entirely free of drift, but its rocks are much decayed at the surface." As the Memoir‡ of the Geological Survey expresses it, "The Ingleby escarpment appears to have formed an impassable barrier" for the northern ice. The Upper Boulder-clay does not occur in the parish of Ingleby. But at several points the Lower Boulder-clay is covered by mounds and patches of sand and gravel, representing the Middle Drift, and reaching, in Midnight Wood, an elevation of about 700 feet. We have obtained from the Lower Clay near Ingleby Mill-dam a broken valve of Tellina balthica, and boulders are very numerous. We have measured and taken notes of some hundreds occurring within the limits of the parish. A collection made by us of specimens of the different varieties has been examined by Professor Bonney, and by Mr. C. T. Clough of the Geological Survey, as well as by ourselves. These specimens afford evidence of a stream or erratics flowing into our locality from the South of Scotland and from the Lake District of Cumberland and Westmoreland. Local rocks, such as the sandstones of the Inferior Oolite, and blocks of Angite-andesite from the Cleveland Whinstone Dyke are of course very numerous. Next to these in point of number come Porphyrites from the Lower Old Red District of the Cheviot Hills. The varieties also include Shap Granite, Criffel Granite, Syenite, Dolerite, Greenstones from Borrowdale, Volcanic Ash from Cheviots, Porphyritic Felsite, Igneous Felstone, Igneous Rock probably from near Loch Lomond, Old Red Trap supposed to be from near Kelso, Porphyritic Basalt from Carter Fell, Whinsill from Upper Teesdale, Quartzite, Quartzose Greywacke, Hälleflinta, Mudstone, Coniston Flagstone, Carboniferous Limestone, Carboniferous Sandstone, Magnesian Limestone, Old Red Conglomerate, Millstone Grit, Vein Quartz.* Within the present century the Lower Boulder Clay has been wrought for the manufacture of bricks and tiles in the townships of Battersby and Greenhow.

Dr. Geikie's observation that the moorland "rocks are much decayed at the surface" is well borne out in this locality. But one instance of moorland weathering is deserving of a special description. On the tabular elevation of Middle Head—a tongue of moorland which divides the upper portion of Baisdale into two small branch dales drained by the confluent streams of Black Beck and Grain Beck—lies a group of large angular and tabular blocks of hard sandstone, the sole surviving remains of a stratum of Inferior Oolite which once existed there, and which at this point marks the boundary of the parish of Ingleby. Sufficiently striking in themselves from their size and number, they become much more remarkable on a nearer inspection; for, in addition to certain channelings and groovings, many of them bear impressed on their upper surfaces a series of what may be termed "Rock Fonts," some of which are almost perfectly symmetrical in their proportions. The fonts vary in size from four or five inches to two or three feet in diameter and depth, and some of the blocks contain several of them. They are known as the Cheese Stones—a name which reminds one of the Cheese Wring, and the conferring of which upon these stones is probably due to the fact that large rectangular blocks of sandstone were commonly in use as weights in the local cheese presses, and not improbably many a block may have been brought from the group in question for such a purpose.

The origin of the basins is probably entirely due to the action of atmospheric weathering. The surfaces of the blocks on which they occur often slope at a greater or smaller angle, and if after a heavy rain you visit them while a strong wind is blowing, you will find the water which they contain circling round and round, bearing on its surface particles of any floating matter brought by the winds, and calculated in process of years or centuries to wear the depression larger and deeper, and to keep it in circular form. Or if your visit be after a period of drought, you may find the wind sweeping round within the fonts the minute flinty grains which have been abraded from their sides, and which tend to abrade those sides still further. When we add the action of frost, and the other causes which contribute to the weathering of rocks, we need not hesitate to admit that atmospheric agency is in itself enough to account for these striking depressions and their symmetrical shapes.

Since we know that the rock fonts in high places generally accompanied the ancient and pretty universal worship of the heavenly host, we might be tempted to imagine that these blocks were the hill-altars of a community of Baal-worshippers, that in fact as the barrows in their immediate proximity represent the Church-yard, so these represent the Church of a primitive period. The Rev. Dr. J. C. Atkinson* says, "it is idle even to venture a surmise touching the moral or religious condition of these pre-historic races" who occupied Cleveland. But the numerous grave-mounds reveal to us the fact that neolithic man lived here. We have every reason to believe that it was his habit to raise dolmens in connection with his worship—such dolmens often being marked with rock-fonts in the cap-stone for the purpose of collecting the blood of victims, or into which to pour libations, or for some such purpose. Where, as in the case of the Cheese Stones, a natural solid altar existed, it obviated the necessity for raising a trilithon. If it be doubted whether these basins could have persisted since neolithic times, we must bear in mind that the atmospheric agencies to which we attribute the origin of the basins, would have availed equally to retain their form had they been originally artificial. While, therefore, we admit the probability that they were formed by the action of the weather, we see no reason for dogmatically asserting that they did not form a centre of worship for the men over whose remains were placed those mounds of earth which we now see near them. On the Greenhow Moor to the south, within the bounds of the parish, or at all events forming the boundary, is a solitary barrow of much larger dimensions than the three here, and near it a conspicuous natural altar with the remains of small rock-basins and grooves, upon which, on one side, a face has been carved in comparatively recent times. One large rounded block in the Cheese Stones group reposes upon a huge horizontal slab at a point so nearly under its centre of gravity that it forms a good specimen of a Rocking-stone.

It would appear that the Romans scarcely entered Cleveland except for the purpose of making roads through to the coast. The district was at that date in great measure a forest, swampy in its lower portions, which remained until the advent of the Danes. They, however, took so complete a possession of it that to this day the dalesmen are to a considerable extent Danish both in features and in dialect and in habits. The old place-names also strikingly testify to the reality and completeness of the Danish occupation. Dr. Atkinson* says, "On the whole we come to something like the conclusion that at least seventy-five per cent. of the Domesday names of Cleveland localities is certainly Old Danish, and very possibly a larger proportion still." Probably two Danes, named respectively Ingialld and Baldur, with their followers, settled down and commenced to clear the forest at the points which from them have ever since been called, with considerable variation of spelling, Ingleby† and Battersby; while the green hillock, or natural "how," which gave name to our third township, may well have been a gathering-place for the clansmen. The name Ingialld occurs in the Landnama-bok, and Baldur is a common Norse name. It is not impossible, however, that our hill-sides gave shelter to a colony of Angles, after whom the Danes christened the locality.

..D. 1066.

At the time of the Norman Conquest much of the parish was possessed by a powerful Lord named Hauuard or Hauuart, who also held possessions in Little Ayton, Great Broughton, Busby, Kirby, Hutton Rudby, Dromonby, Easby, Yarm, Castle Levington, Kirk Levington, Stokesley, Tanton, Thoraldby, and Low Worsall.

..D. 1087.

The Domesday Survey informs us that "Englebi" was a soke belonging to the Manor of Stokesley, that it had been in the hands of Hauuart, was now possessed by the King's Thegns, and contained 7 carucates. Dr. Atkinson infers that it was waste. The entry relating to Battersby is "Terra regis. Manerium in Badresbi. Hauuard II. ad geldum. Terra ad I. car." Greenhow is not mentioned, but may be represented by Camisedale, of which we have the following notice: "Manerium. In Camisedale habuit Orm I. car. terre ad geldum. Terra est ad dimidiam carucam. Hugo habet ibi I. uillanum cum I. caruca." Orm had been the owner of lands in Appleton Wiske, Kildale, Crunkley Gill, and Ormesby. Hugh, son of Baldric, who is the Hugo of the above extract, is also mentioned as having obtained lands at Crunkley Gill.

The next records in point of date relating to our parish are those contained in the "Chartulary of Whitby," which has recently been edited by our neighbour, the Rev. Dr. J. C. Atkinson, Vicar of Danby. The first charter in this collection in which Ingleby is mentioned appears to be the following:

..1143—1147.

"LXXVII. Adam de Engelby de Ecclesia ejusdem Villæ.

Be it known to all sons of Holy Mother Church both present and future, that I, Adam de Ingleby, for the salvation of my soul and for the souls of my father, and of my ancestors, have granted and by this my present charter confirmed to God and St. Peter and St. Hilda of Whitby, and the monks serving God there even to the end of the world, for a free and perpetual alms, the Church of Ingleby, with all its appurtenances. Of this my donation the witnesses are—William, Archbishop of York, Simon Canon of Kirkham. Ralph a Priest. Albert a Writer; and others.]

The Archbishop William here mentioned was William Fitz-Herbert, consecrated Sept. 26th, 1143, deprived 1147, restored 1153, died 1154. The above donation was undoubtedly made between 1143 and 1147. Dr. Atkinson points out that it is very improbable that such a transaction would occur during the thirty days the Archbishop was in York between his restoration and his death, and, as we shall see presently, the donation was confirmed during this latter period. It may be observed here that Ingleby does not find mention in the list of possessions of Whitby Abbey in Charter 149 relating to the time of Abbot Benedict, who died in 1148.

Soon afterwards the above-mentioned Adam granted to Whitby the church of the adjoining parish of Kirby-in-Cleveland.

"LXXVIII. Confirmatio Henrici Archiepiscopi de ecclesia de Kirkeby.

Henrico D. G. Archie'po, omnique clero Capituli Ebor., et cunctis S. Ecclesiæ filiis, Adam de Aengelbý salutem. Sciatis me, pro s. a. meæ et salvatione antecess. meorum, dedisse Ecclesiæ Wýtebýensi in lib. et perp. elem. eccl. meam de Kirchabi, et quicquid ad eam pertinet, ita libere et solide et quiete de me meisque hæc. tenendum, sicut aliqua ecclesia liberius, solidius, aut quietius aliquam elemosinam a laico domino tenet, vel tenere potest. Hujus donationis meæ testis est præsens carta, proprio sigillo consignata. Testes etiam sunt—Radulphus Archidiaconus. Terri Decanus. Willelmus de Rudebý. Arnaldus Sac' de Hýlderwell. Radulfo Sac'; et multi alii."

[78. The Archbishop Henry's Confirmation of Kirby Church.

To Henry by the grace of God Archbishop, and to all the Clergy of the Chapter of York, and to all the sons of Holy Church, Adam de Ingleby greeting. Know ye that I, for the salvation of my soul and the salvation of my ancestors, have given to the Church of Whitby for a free and perpetual alms my Church of Kirby, and whatever belongs to it, to be held as freely and fully and peaceably of me and my heirs as any church holds or can hold any alms of a lay lord. Of this my grant the witness is the present charter, sealed with my own seal. Witnesses also are—Ralph the Archdeacon. Terri the Dean. William de Rudby. Arnald Priest of Hilderwell [i. e. Hinderwell]. Ralph a Priest; and many others.]

It will be observed that the title of the above charter is misleading. The Archbishop here mentioned was Henry Murdac, 1147—1153.

The following is an extract from charter number 200 :

1153—1154. "CC. Confirmatio Willelmi Archiepiscopi de Ecclesia de Witeby, de Filinga, de Hakenes, de Semara, de Hotona, de Crosseby, de Atona, de Kirkeby, de Engelby.

Willelmus, D. G. Ebor. Archiep'us, Capitulo S. Petri, et omn. parochianis suis, salutem et Dei benedictionem. Episcopali attinet sollicitudini terras et possessiones ecclesiasticas, et præcipue Religiosis domibus collatas, pastoralis sollicitudine defendere, et auctoritatis suæ pagina ad perp. stabilitatem solidare. Hinc est quod Monasterio S. P. et S. Hýldæ de Wýtebý, et mon. ib. Deo serv.,..... eccl. de Atona, cum capella Newetunie sub Ohtneberg, et aliis capellis, et omnibus ad eam pertinentibus, et eccl. de Kýrkebý, cum pert. suis, et eccl. de Englebi, cum pert. suis, quam Adam, advocatus ejusdem ecclesiæ, me præsentem, meisque, Ecclesiæ præd. de Wýtebý super sacrum altare, in lib. et perp. elem. dedit et obtulit : hanc itaque simul cum aliis ecclesiis, salvo jure Eboracensis Ecclesiæ, et episcopalibus consuetudinibus, in perp. elem. confirmamus..... Hii sunt testes: Cuthbertus, Prior de Gisburnia; Symon, Canonicus de Kirkam; Magister Robertus de Hospitali; Wivianus Presbiter; et multi alii."

[200. The Archbishop William's Confirmation of the Church of Whitby, of Fyling, of Hackness, of Seamer, of Hutton, of Crossby, of Ayton, of Kirby, of Ingleby.

William, by the grace of God Archbishop of York, to the Chapter of St. Peter, and all its parishioners greeting and the blessing of God. It is the duty of a bishop to protect ecclesiastical lands and possessions with pastoral care, and especially those conferred upon religious houses, and by the stamp of his authority to establish them with perpetual stability. Hence it is that to the Monastery of St. Peter and St. Hilda of Whitby, and to the monks serving God there..... the church of Ayton, with the chapel of Newton under Roseberry, and the other chapels, and all things belonging to it, and the church of Kirby with its appurtenances, and the church of Ingleby, with its appurtenances, which Adam, patron of the same church, when I and mine were present, gave and offered upon the sacred altar for a free and perpetual alms to the aforesaid church of Whitby : this therefore together with the other churches, saving the right of the Church of York and episcopal customs, we confirm for a perpetual alms..... These are witnesses: Cuthbert, Prior of Guisbrough, Simon, Canon of Kirkham; Master Robert of the Hospital; Vivian, a Priest; and many others.]

Dr. Atkinson says, "According to Burton, Ranulf, Cuthbert's predecessor, was still Prior of Gisburne in 1144, and as Cuthbert is a witness to the present deed it must consequently have been granted 1145—1147, or in the short interval succeeding the restoration." But by comparing the present charter with that last quoted it becomes quite certain that this confirmation dates from the latter period, for the original grant of the church of Kirby was not made till the episcopate of Henry Murdac.

Adam de Ingleby made a yet further grant to Whitby—that of Ingleby Mill.

The date of this grant does not appear, but probably closely followed that of the two which have been recited.

“LI. Adam de Molendino de Engelby.

[51. Adam respecting Ingleby Mill.

Be it known to all sons of Holy Church, that I, Adam de Ingleby, have given and conceded to the Church of St. Peter and St. Hilda of Whitby, and the Monks serving God there, for the salvation of my soul, the mill of Ingleby free and entire and quit from every service and from every exaction, together with all the customs and liberties which it had from my land, all the days of my life. It being understood that my homagers shall repair the dam and house and bring to it building materials and millstones, as they did in my time; and this my two heirs have conceded, namely my daughters Sicily and Wýmarc, with their husbands, Elzi and Ralph; on such condition that out of their own sustenance they shall not give multure so long as their men together with the other men of the same tenure make the dam and house, and bring building materials and millstones, and do not attempt to make another mill besides that one. This mill then I have given to the Church of Whitby for a perpetual alms. Of which thing the witnesses are William de Stokesley. Daniel de Kirby. William, son of Daniel. This last grant was subsequently confirmed by Guy de Balliol.

[52. Confirmation of Guy de Balliol.

Guy de Balliol to all sons of Holy Church, scattered over the whole world in the unity of the faith, greeting. Know all of you that I have conceded for a perpetual and pure alms, and by my charter confirmed to God, and St. Peter, and St. Hilda, for my soul, and for the souls of my father and my mother, but especially for the souls of my ancestors, past and future, the mill of Ingleby, which Adam in his own lifetime gave, as freely and peacefully as the aforesaid Adam held it in his own days; with all the multure and all the service which belongs to that mill. The witnesses being these. William de Stokesley. Alwin de Rounton. Rainer a clergyman. Aylmer de [Barnard] Castle. Robert, and others.]

At the date of this confirmation Adam de Ingleby had died, and had apparently been succeeded by Guy de Balliol. As pointing to the inference that this and the last-quoted charter are not very remote from each other in point of date it is interesting to note that William de Stokesley occurs as a witness to both.

Dr. Atkinson draws the inference that this confirmation by Guy de Balliol took place before A.D. 1138, and the original grant of course still further back in time. But in so doing he is inconsistent with his note to another charter; for he allows that the grant of Ingleby Church was made subsequently to A.D. 1143. And since Adam was living then and had died before this confirmation was made, the date of the confirmation must be later than A.D. 1143. It is extremely probable that Guy de Balliol was the brother, presumably the younger brother, of Bernard Balliol, and son of that Guy Balliol of whom Dugdale says, "in the reign of William Rufus he was enfeoffed by that King in the Barony of Biwell in Northumberland," and who gave to the Abbey of St. Mary at York the Church of Stokesley and one carucate of land. Dr. Atkinson's inference that this confirmation was made before A.D. 1138 seems to rest on the fact that, according to Dugdale, Bernard de Balliol was an important man in A.D. 1138. But we know that he was living in A.D. 1173, and surely his brother Guy may have been living long after A.D. 1138. Guy may have been subinfeudated to Bernard, and this would make it necessary that Bernard also should, (in the lifetime of Guy or otherwise,) confirm the gift of Adam. Accordingly we have the following.

"LIII. Confirmatio Bernardi de Baliolo de Ecclesia de Kyrkeby et Molendino de Engelby.

Omnibus filiis S. M. Eccl. tam præ. quam fut., Bernardus Balillol salutem. sciatis me, pro amore Dei et pro s. animarum patris mei et matris meæ, fratrisque mei Wydonis, et sororis meæ Hawis, et omn. parentum meorum, concessisse, et hac mea carta conf. Eccl. S. Petri Sanctæque Hildæ de Wýteby, Monachisque ibid. Deo serv., eccl. de Engelbi, et eccl. de Kirkebý, cum pertinentiis suis omnibus, et molendinum unum, cum multura sua, in Engelbý, in lib. et quietam elem., sicut Adam, filius Vitalis, præd. Ecclesiæ dedit. His testibus. Ricardo de Wodeham, Clerico. Gerrardo Diaconus. Waltero Pec. Gocelino de Helmcourt. Baldewino de Bars; et aliis."

[53. Bernard de Balliol's Confirmation of the Church of Kirby and the Mill of Ingleby.

To all sons of Holy Mother Church both present and future Bernard de Balliol greeting. Know ye that I, for the love of God and for the salvation of the souls of my father and my mother, and my brother Guy, and my sister Hawise, and all my ancestors, have conceded, and by this my charter confirmed to the Church of St. Peter and St. Hilda of Whitby, and the Monks serving God there, the church of Ingleby, and the church of Kirby, together with all their appurtenances, and one mill, with its multure, in Ingleby, for a free and quiet alms, as Adam, son of Vitalis, gave them to the aforesaid Church. These being witnesses. Richard de Wodeham, a Clergyman. Gerrard, a Deacon. Walter Pec. Jocelin de Helmcourt. Baldwin de Bars; and others.]

Dr. Atkinson assumes that because the name of Guy de Balliol occurs in the above charter he was therefore dead at the date of it. But Bernard might mention his brother's soul in the way he here does while he was still living, as Guy in the last quoted charter mentions his "future ancestors." Dr. Atkinson says that charter 353 "differs from this in not referring to his brother Guido and sister Hawise as deceased, and in having the former of them as a witness to his deed." That charter is as follows.

"CCCLIII. Cartæ de Kyrkeby et Fngylby.

A.D. 1155—1175.

That important document of the Whitby Chartulary, "The Memorial of Foundation and of the Earlier Benefactions," is supposed to have been written between A.D. 1155 and A.D. 1175. The paragraph relating to our parish is as follows :—"Ex dono Adam filii Viel, ecclesiam de Kirchebi, et ecclesiam de Englebi et molendinum ejusdem villæ." [Of the grant of Adam son of Viel, the church of Kirby, and the church of Ingleby and the mill of the same town.]

1175—1181.

The date of the following document is probably between A.D. 1175 and A.D. 1181. It is certainly not later than 1181 in which year Archbishop Roger died.

"XLVI. Confirmatio Ecclesiarum de Semara, de Hatona, de Kirkeby et Engelby.

Roger, by the Grace of God Archbishop of York. To Robert the Dean and the Chapter of St. Peter, and all their parishioners greeting and the blessing of God. It is the duty of a bishop to establish ecclesiastical lands and possessions, and especially those conferred on religious houses, &c. . . . From this consideration therefore we confirm for a perpetual alms to the Monastery of Whitby and the Monks serving God there, the church of Ayton with the chapels and all things belonging to it; and the church of Seamer with its appurtenances; and the church of Kirby with its appurtenances; and the church of Ingleby with its appurtenances, saving the right of the Church of York and episcopal customs These are witnesses. Osbert the Archdeacon. Osbert Arrundel. John son of Lethold. Turt the Archbishop's cup-bearer; and many others.]

The charter which follows would appear to be of about the same date as the above. Archbishop Roger died in A.D. 1181.

"LV. Confirmatio Rogeri Archiepiscopi.

1175—1181.

Rogerus, D. G. Ebor. Archiepus, Roberto Decano, et Capitulo S. Petri, et omnibus parrochianis suis, sal. et Dei benedictionem Monasterio S. Petri et S. Hýldæ de Wýtebý, et monachis ibid. Gregorio, Priore de Bridlington. Johanne Archidiacono; et aliis."

[55. The Archbishop Roger's Confirmation.

Roger, by the Grace of God Archbishop of York, to Robert the Dean, and the Chapter of St. Peter, and all their parishioners, greeting and the blessing of God. We confirm for a perpetual alms to the Monastery of St. Peter and St. Hilda of Whitby, and the monks serving God there, the church of St. Mary of the same town, with all its appurtenances; and the church of St. Mary of Hackness, with its appurtenances; and the church of Ayton, with its appurtenances, for the personal uses of the Monastery and Monks, saving the right of the Church of York, and episcopal customs; except that the aforesaid church of St. Mary of Whitby is exempt from synodals. Now after the decease of Reiner, its Clerk [in holy orders], we similarly grant and confirm the church of Ingleby for the personal uses of the Monastery and Monks. These being witnesses. Clement, Abbot of York. Gregory, Prior of Bridlington. John the Archdeacon; and others.]

The grant spoken of in the charter next cited may have taken place about the same time, as "R. . . . persona de Engelbi" is probably Reiner who is mentioned in the last deed and in no. 52.

"LXXXV. De Dimidia acra in Engelby.

[85. Concerning half an acre in Ingleby.

Let all men know, present and future, that I, Stephen Hay, have given and by this my present charter confirmed to God and the Church of St. Andrew of Ingleby one half acre of land in Ingleby, namely on the outside at the north of my two oxgangs in Aistangarthes,* for the salvation of my soul and the souls of my fathers and mothers and ancestors, for a free and pure and perpetual alms :—To be held of me and my heirs, freely and exempt from every secular service and exaction. [270. The Archbishop Geoffrey's Confirmation of the church of Ingleby for personal uses. Geoffrey by the Grace of God Archbishop of York, and Primate of England, to all the faithful of Christ who shall see or hear this letter, wishes eternal health in the Lord. Lest by the change of times, or the scheming of the malicious, the arrangements made with regard to ecclesiastical dispositions shall be in any danger of being weakened in any respect whatever, we wish it to come to the notice of you all that we, by the prompting of divine piety, have confirmed to God and the Church of the Blessed Peter and St. Hilda of Whitby, and the monks serving God there, the church of Ingleby in Cleveland, with all things appertaining to it, to be held forever for their own purposes, according to the tenor of the charter of Roger of good memory, our predecessor, sometime Archbishop of York, which they hold since then. And that this our confirmation may remain firm and sure we have established it by the present writing and by the affixing of our seal. These being witnesses. Bernard Bishop of Carlisle. Columbus, the Subdeacon of our Lord the Pope. Roger de Richmond. Robert de Ayton. Thomas de Vitri. Peter Albinus [White.] Robert de Tanton; and others.]

As Bernard became Bishop of Carlisle in 1203, and Geoffrey Plantagenet, Archbishop of York, died in 1207, the date of the above document is approximately determined.

All that can be said as to the date of the charter which follows is that it relates to the time of Abbot Peter, A.D. 1190—1211.

"LIV. Confirmatio Hugonis de Baliolo de Ecclesiis de Kyrkeby et Engelby.

To all the sons of Holy Mother Church, present and future, to whom the present writing shall come, Hugh de Balliol greeting. Be it known to you all that I have conceded, and by this my present charter confirmed, to Peter the Abbot, and the Convent of Whitby, and their successors, for the souls of all my ancestors, the churches of Kirby and of Ingleby, with all their appurtenances and liberties, for a pure and perpetual alms, to be held by a perpetual right, as freely and quietly as any layman can confer any churches on any Religious men; and the mill of Ingleby, to be held and possessed with all its liberties and appurtenances, just as Adam de Ingleby gave and by his charter confirmed the aforesaid mill to the said monks. These being witnesses. Sir Laurence, Prior of Guisbrough, Hugh de Hutton. Nicholas de Ayton. Hugh de Balliol.]

The mill having been thus confirmed to Whitby, the Abbot and Monks leased it back to Hugh de Balliol as the next deed shows.

Hæc est conventio facta inter Petrum, Abbatem de Whitby, et Conv. ejusdem loci, et Hugonem de Bailloll’—scil. quod prædicti Abbas et Conv. de Whiteby dimiserunt eidem Hugoni de Bailloll’ molendinum suum de Ingelby, tenendum in tota vita sua ad firmam, pro quindecim sol. argenti annuatim ad duos terminos solvendis, med. ad Pent. et med. ad f. [355. Agreement about the same mill.

This is an agreement made between Peter, Abbot of Whitby, and the Convent of the same place, and Hugh de Balliol—namely that the aforesaid Abbot and Convent of Whitby have leased to the same Hugh de Balliol their mill of Ingleby, to be held for his whole life securely, for fifteen shillings of silver annually to be paid at two terms, half at Pentecost and half at the festival of St. Martin.—That is to say so that the aforesaid mill shall return free to the aforesaid Abbot and Monks of Whitby from the aforesaid Hugh without any reserve. These being witnesses. Sir Laurence, Prior of Guisbrough. Ralph de Brumhus; Peter de Guisbrough; John de Alverstan, his Canons. Bernard de Arines, Seneschal. Hugh de Hutton. Walter, his brother. Hugh de Balliol, a Clergyman. Nicholas de Ayton. William de Mowbray. Richard de Hutton; and many others.]

The following charter may possibly be later in date than any of the above. The name of Henry, Chaplain of Stokesley, occurs as a witness to charter no. 216 together with those of Adam, Chaplain of Ingleby, and Laurence, Prior of Guisbrough; and we know that Laurence was prior “about A.D. 1211.” (Mon. Ebor.)

“CCXXII. De Virgulto in Engelby.

Let all men know, both present and future, that I, Henry, Chaplain of Stokesley, have given and conceded and by this my present charter confirmed to God and the Church of St. Peter and St. Hilda of Whitby, and the monks serving God there, for a free and pure and perpetual alms, my plantation which I had in the town of Ingleby, and a croft likewise with an entire toft towards the north, and all my land outside the church-yard, from the bridge which leads towards Greenhow as far as to the road which leads towards Stokesley, with all the appurtenances and easements appertaining to that land, in the town and outside it, for finding lighting material and incense in the Church of St. Andrew of Ingleby. These being witnesses. Master Ralph de Haraby. Master Hugh [a Clergyman]. Roger Arundel. Andrew de Dunsley. Nicholas de Ayton. Adam Barn; and others.]

The next charter in point of time falls between A.D. 1214 and A.D. 1222. The editor of the "Whitby Chartulary" supposes that the Henry de Percy mentioned in it may have been Henry son of Alan de Percy "the great."

1214—1222.

[358. Another charter of the same.

To all sons of Holy Mother Church, who shall see or hear this letter, Roger, by the Grace of God Abbot of Whitby, greeting. Know ye that we have conceded and by this our present charter confirmed to William Nunde one toft with a croft in the town of Battersby—namely that toft which lies next to the land of Nicholas de Ayton towards the east; to be held and had of us all his life freely and quietly, peacefully and honourably:—On rendering to us annually for every service eighteen pence at two terms—namely half at Pentecost and half at the festival of St. Martin in winter. Now the aforesaid William Nunde shall erect buildings on the aforesaid land and shall remain on it: but the term of the life of the said William Nunde being finished, the aforesaid land shall return free to the Abbey of Whitby, with all its buildings. And if it should so happen that any one on our side should wish to do contrary to our concession and donation, the aforesaid William shall carry away with him all the buildings without any disturbance. And that this concession may be fixed and stable we have corroborated the present writing by the impression of our seal. These being witnesses. William, then Seneschal of the then Lord Abbot of Whitby. Nicholas de Ayton. William de Walden. William de Rimswell. Robert Crisp. John de Irton; and many others.]

In spite of Dr. Atkinson's opinion to the contrary it seems to us very probable that “Nunde” in the last charter and “Grundi” in the previous one owe their difference of form to a clerical error. The spelling of “Bradesby” in the charter last cited indicates a careless scribe, and the still-existing name of Grundy would seem to point to the more probable form. Not that these two names need refer to one and the same person. The individual mentioned in charter 358 might not improbably be the son of the one whose name occurs in 357.

The date of the next charter is also between 1222 and 1244, but subsequent to the last.

"CCCLIX. Alia carta.

To all who shall see or hear this letter, Roger, by the Grace of God Abbot of Whitby, and of the Convent of the same place, wishes eternal health in the Lord. Be it known to you all that we have conceded and by this our present charter confirmed to Adam Cannator of Battersby, and the heirs issuing from him, one toft with a croft in the town of Battersby, which lies next the land of Nicholas de Ayton, towards the east, to be held and had of us hereditarily—On rendering to us annually eighteen pence at two terms—namely half at Pentecost and half at the festival of St. Martin in winter. In testimony of this thing we have affixed the seal of our Chapter to the present writing. These being witnesses. Roger, Vicar of Kirby. Walter a Clergyman. Peter de Ayton. Nicholas Marchand; and others.]

Dr. Atkinson says with reference to the name in the above charter, "This is written Cannator, and not Tannator. But it may be a question if Tannator is not the right form. Adam Tannator is met with in a document dated 1310, which is found in the Percy Feodary, and again in a subsequent part of the same volume, in both cases in matters connected with Crathorne. This Adam Tannator, if so read, might be the ancestor of the latter." We are, however, strongly inclined to suppose that "Cannator" is simply "Chantry-priest," and that the individual in question is the same as "Adam, capellanus de Engelby," mentioned in Charter 216 of the Whitby Collection.

bishops, bishops, abbots, priors, earls, barons, justices, sheriffs, provosts, ministers, and all his bailiffs and faithful men, greeting, know ye that we have granted, and by this our charter confirmed, to our beloved and faithful Nicholas de Meynell, that he and his heirs for ever have free warren in all his demesne lands of Welverton,* Grenhou, Semere, and Estone, in the county of York, provided those lands be not within the bounds of our forest, so that no one enter those lands to hunt in them, or to take anything which may belong to warren, without the license and will of him the said Nicholas, or of his heirs, upon forfeiture to us of ten pounds. Now we, holding the grants aforesaid good and firm, do, for us and our heirs, as much as in us lies, grant and confirm them as the charter aforesaid reasonably testifies. We have also granted, for us and our heirs, as much as in us lies, to the aforesaid Nicholas and his heirs, that they have free chase in all his demesne woods within the warren aforesaid to hunt, take, and carry away stags, does, fallow-deer, male and female, or other beasts of the wood, without the license and will of him the said Nicholas and of his heirs, against this our grant aforesaid." &c.

In "Dugdale's Baronage" is the following:—"To Nicholas (Meynell), in 9 Ed. I., the King granted to him free-warren throughout all his lands and lordships of Whervelton, Grenhou, Semere, and Eston, in com. Ebor., as also free chase in all his woods within those lordships; and not long after, viz., in 13 Ed. I., gave him the mannor of Castle Levington, in com. Ebor., with free-warren in all his demesne lands there. He died in 27 Ed. I., being seised of the mannors of Wherlton, Semere, Eston, &c., which he held of the Archbishop of Canterbury, by performing the service of pantler on the day of his inthronisation."†

The following notice of the parish is from "Kirkby's Inquest."

"Inquisitio facta apud Ormesby coram domino Johanne de Kirkeby, thesaurario domini regis, die Sabbati proximo ante Passionem Domini, anno regni regis Edwardi tertio decimo, per hos xij viros, videlicet, dominum Ricardum de Scotterscelf, dominum de Roselle, Gilbertum de Camera, Walterum de Hurwath, Walterum Thorpe, Petrum Bagotte, Johannem de Redmershall, Johannem de Kirkeby, Thomam Gower, Robertum Colby, Ricardum de Thorne, R. de Marton, Thomam Waxander, et Radulphum de Bathersby :

Qui dicunt super sacramentum quod iiij^{xx} et xvij villæ sunt in wapentagio de Langberche, scilicet," etc.

[Inquest made at Ormesby in the presence of Sir John de Kirkby, treasurer of the Lord the King, on the Sabbath day next before the Lord's Passion in the thirteenth year of the reign of King Edward, by these 12 men, namely Sir Richard de Scotterscelf, Lord de Roselle, Gilbert de Camera, Walter de Hurwath, Walter Thorpe, Peter Bagot, John de Redmershall, John de Kirkby, Thomas Gower, Robert Colby, Richard de Thorne, R. de Marton, Thomas Waxander† and Ralph de Bathersby.

There is also mention of the family of Waxand, or Wassand was settled at South Otterington. By his will he bequeathed the church of St. John Waxand, Knight, requested to be buried in the Church of St. Andrew at South Otterington. They had the patronage of the Church there.

Who say on oath that there are 97 towns in the wapentake of Langbargh, namely, &c.]

In this list of "vills" occur "Grenehowe, Engilby juxta Grenehowe, Badersby," all of which are declared to be taxable.

"Dicunt etiam quod status villarum de Querelton, Seimor, Hilton, Mydelton, Estonn, Grenehowe, Hoton, Pottou, Goweton, Rymeketon, Kerleton, et duarum car. terræ de Neweby, et vj bovatarum in Scothrikelf et Thoraby, unius car. terræ in Tranehollme, quæ sunt de tenura ecclesiæ Cantuariensis, quas Nicholaus de Mennel tenuit, mutatur per Stephanum de Mennel, patrem Nicholai prædicti, in hoc quod, ubi dare consueverunt commune amerciamentum, eas dare defendit a tempore xx^{ti} annorum."

[They say also that the status of the towns of Whorlton, Seamer, Hilton, Middleton, Eston, Greenhow, Hutton, Potto, Goulton, Rounton, Carlton, and of two carucates of the land of Newby, and of six oxgangs in Scutterskelf and Thoraldby, of one carucate of land in Trenholm, which are of the tenure of the church of Canterbury, which Nicholas de Meynell held, is changed by Stephen de Meynell, father of the aforesaid Nicholas, in this that where they were accustomed to pay a fine in common, he has prevented them from paying it, for a period of 20 years.]

"Nicholaus de Menell reddit ballivo domini regis pro Warlton, Semor cum Braithewaithe, Eston, Greneowe, Hilton (excepta portione Willelmi de Pottow), Midleton, Rudby, Hoton, Pothou cum Goweton (excepta una car. terræ quæ est de feod. hæred' Marmaduci de Thwinge), Carleton, Runghton, et pro una car. et vj bov. terræ in Scuterskelf et Thoraldby, et ij car. in Neweby, et una car. terræ in Tranehollme, quæ sunt de libertate ecclesiæ Cantuar., pro finibus xxxs. (exceptis ijs. quos Robertus de Pottoue reddere tenetur ballivo domini regis, pro titulo suo, in Pottowe, quia est de libertate prædicta). Et Johannes de Pottowe reddit pro parte sua xijd. quos dictus Robertus et Johannes, de toto tempore suo, non reddiderunt ei, a tempore Roberti x annorum, a tempore dicti Johannis xij annorum. Et dictus Nicholaus reddere tenetur ballivo domini regis pro terr' Symonis Bert de Kerleton, de fine ijs. quos non reddidit a tempore xij annorum."

[Nicholas de Meynell pays to the bailiff of the lord the king for Whorlton, Seamer with Braithwaite, Eston, Greenhow, Hilton (the portion of William of Potto excepted), Middleton, Rudby, Hutton, Potto with Goulton (one carucate of land excepted which is the hereditary fee of Marmaduke de Thweng), Carlton, Rounton, and for one carucate and 6 oxgangs of land in Scutterskelf and Thoraldby, and 2 carucates in Newby, and one carucate of land in Trenholm, which belong to the liberty of the church of Canterbury, for fines 30 shillings (2 shillings excepted which Robert de Potto is charged to pay the bailiff of the lord the king for his title in Potto, because it belongs to the liberty aforesaid). And John de Potto pays for his part 12 pence. These sums the said Robert and John all their time have not paid to him, Robert for a period of 10 years, the said John for a period of 12 years. And the said Nicholas is charged to pay to the bailiff of the lord the king, for the land of Simon Bert of Carlton, a fine of 2 shillings, which he has not paid for a period of 12 years.]

"Johannes de Balliolo tenet iiij feod. de domino rege in capite in Stokesley, Batherby, Ingleby juxta Grenehowe, Parva Browghton, Dromondby, Kirkeby, Magna Buskeby, Parva Buskeby, Scoterskelf, Thoraldby et Neweby. Et Robertus filius Rogeri tenet ea de dicto Johanne, et Hugo de Euer tenet eadem feoda de dicto Roberto, unde xiiij car. terræ faciunt feod. Et idem Hugo reddit ballivo domini regis pro fine xvs."

[John de Balliol holds 4 fees of the lord the king in capite in Stokesley, Battersby, Ingleby near Greenhow, Little Broughton, Dromonby, Kirby, Great Busby, Little Busby, Scutterskelf, Thoraldby and Newby. And Robert son of Roger holds them of the said John, and Hugh de Eure holds the same fees of the said Robert. Here 14 carucates of land make a fee. And the same Hugh pays to the bailiff of the lord the king for fine 15 shillings.]

"Robertus filius Rogeri" is Robert son of Roger de Eure, who was the eldest son of John Fitz Robert and Ada de Balliol, aunt of the above-mentioned John de Balliol, the competitor for the throne of Scotland.

"Dicunt quod vs. iiijd. annui redditus, de iij car. terræ in Kemesdayll juxta Greneowe, sunt a domino rege subtracti per Robertum de Mennell, avum Nicholai de Mennel, a tempore domini Johannis regis."

[They say that 5s. 4d. of the annual payment, from 3 carucates of land in Kemesdale near Greenhow, have been withheld from the lord the king by Robert de Meynell, grandfather of Nicholas de Meynell, since the time of lord John the king.]

Kemesdayll in the above extract is the Camisedale of Domesday Book. It may have been the ancient name of that portion of the present township of Greenhow, which at a later period was known as Low Greenhow, and which borders on the township of Little Broughton. In the Recapitulatio of the Domesday Survey, in which the name of Greenhow does not occur, Camisedale is placed between Engelby and Broctun. A farm house in Little Broughton township, just over the boundary from Greenhow, is still known as Meynell Hall.

The next record is from the "Knights' Fees in Yorkshire" of the date of 31 Ed. I.

A.D. 1304. From Burton's "Monasticon" (p. 250) we learn that the Priory of Basedale was endowed with lands &c. in Battersby and Ingleby Greenhow. In the year 1304 John de Eure quit-claimed to John, prior of Basedale, certain houses and lands at Ingleby Greenhow &c.* He also, according to Ord,† “exempted the nuns from suits of courts for their possessions here.” In an inventory taken in 26 Hen. VIII (1535) of the lands and tenements belonging to the Priory, with their annual value occur these items:—“In Ingleby unum tenementum $\overset{\text{£}}{0} - \overset{\text{s}}{18} - \overset{\text{d}}{0}$. In Batersby unum tenementum $\overset{\text{£}}{0} - \overset{\text{s}}{9} - \overset{\text{d}}{0}$.”‡

At one period the Prior and Canons of Guisbrough had possessions at Battersby.||

D. 1307.

The Knights Templar of Westerdale also held property in the parish. In an “extent” made Sept. 21, 1307, respecting their possessions, we have the following entry:—“Item Joh. fil. Roberti tenet in Ingelby iuxta Grenhow i toftum & reddit per ann. vii. d. & facit &c. Item Emma filia Rob. tenet ii toft. ii bou. terre & redd. per ann. xxd. Item Adam Todde tenet i toftum & i bou. terre in eadem & redd. per ann. xiii. d. et facit &c. Item Hugo fil. Walteri tenet i toft. & i acr. terre in eadem & reddit per ann. i lib. ceri precii ii. d. capelle manerii de Westerdale.”§

[Likewise John, son of Robert, holds one toft in Ingleby near Greenhow, and pays 8d. per annum, and makes &c. Likewise Emma, daughter of Robert, holds two tofts and two oxgangs of land, and pays 20d. per annum. Likewise Adam Todd holds one toft and one oxgang of land in the same (town), and pays 13d. per annum and makes &c. Likewise Hugh, son of Walter, holds one toft and one acre of land in the same (town), and pays annually one pound of wax, price 2d., to the chapel of the manor of Westerdale.]

D. 1310.

We copy the following from pp. 46 and 47 of an article entitled “The Rise, Extensjon, and Suppression of the Order of Knights Templar in Yorkshire,” contained in a volume of “Papers on Subjects of Archæology and History by the Rev. John Kenrick, M.A., F.S.A.,” 1864.

“John de Eure, Sheriff of Yorkshire, said, that before the seizure of the Templars, and before any scandal respecting them was in circulation, William de la Fenne, preceptor of Westerdale, had been invited to his house, and that after dinner he took a book from his bosom and gave it to the sheriff’s lady. She, who must have far surpassed most of her sex in that age, both in letters and theology, found in it a paper containing very heretical propositions concerning Christ and the Christian faith. She handed it to her husband who, when he had read it, questioned the preceptor about its contents. William de la Fenne smiled, and said the man who wrote it was a great ribald, but would not part with the book.”

The trial at which the above trumpery evidence was given took place at York in May, 1310. The house of Sir John de Eure was Ingleby Manor. The “sheriff’s lady” was Agnes, dau. of Sir John de Insula. She survived her husband, and afterwards became the wife of Sir Roger Burton, Knight.

* Ord, “History of Cleveland,” p. 445. In the Appendix of Graves’ “Hist. of Cleveland” is the following extract from a charter of the date of 1338. “Omnibus &c. Johannes de Eure Miles. 1216. In the "Nomina Villarum" of the date of 9 Ed. II. it is stated that the King is lord of the Wapentake of Langbargh, and that the towns of "Stokesley,..... Ingelby, Eseby, Batheresby et Kirkby" are in possession of John de Eure.

In an Inquisitio post mortem of the date of Ed. II. is the following entry: "Ebor.—21 Nich'us de Menill: Quarleton maner'; Semere maner'; Eston maner'; Carleton maner'; Pothowe maner'; Grenehowe maner'."

The following notice of Greenhow occurs in the Charter Roll of the 11th year of King Edward III.

1237. "For Nicholas de Menill, of warren granted. The King to the same (archbishops &c.), greeting. Know ye that we have granted, and by this our charter confirmed to our beloved and faithful Nicholas de Menyll, that he and his heirs for ever have free warren in all his demesne lands of Wherlveton, Greenhou, Semere, Eston, Hoton, Aldewerk, and Midleton, in the county of York, provided those lands be not within the bounds of our forest, so that no one enter those lands to hunt in them, or to take anything which may belong to warren, without license and will of the same Nicholas, or his heirs, upon forfeiture to us of ten pounds," &c.

[300. Concerning the annual payments of our churches.

In the name of God. Amen. We John aforesaid Archbishop of York, Primate of England and Legate of the Apostolic See, when formerly by the duty of our office visiting the Archdeaconries of the East Riding and Cleveland in our diocese, by means of certain commissaries of ours specially deputed for this matter, found that the Religious men, the Abbot and Monks of the Monastery of Whitby in our same diocese, against our common right pretend that they hold for their own personal uses the parish churches of Seamer, Hackness, Whitby, Ayton in Cleveland, Ingleby, and Middlesbrough, with the chapels dependent upon the same; certain portions also of the tithe stooks in the churches of Nafreton, and Foxholes, together with the under-mentioned yearly payments—namely from the church of Hutton Bushell, 40s., from the church of Sutton upon Derwent, six shillings and eight pence, from the church at Slingsby, 13s. 4d., from the Church of Huntington, 13s. 4d., from the church of Kirby in Cleveland sixty six shillings and eight pence, and from the church of Skirpenbeck, 13s. 4d., and they receive the fruits, rents and crops accruing from the said churches and chapels, shares and yearly payments, and turn them to personal uses of this kind, as they have received and turned them for no inconsiderable time past. We therefore, wishing to take proceedings against them in respect of the above matters, commanded and made the same Religious to be summoned by means of our said commissaries to judgment in presence of the same at a certain day and place agreed upon, that they might show whatever right they had for themselves with regard to the acquisition and retention of the said churches, chapels, shares, annual payments, and the receiving of the fruits, rents and crops of the same. These Religious then, appearing by an advocate armed with sufficient power for this purpose, on a certain day and place assigned to them, as it is aforesaid, exhibited some letters both apostolical and of certain of our predecessors, and of the Chapter of our Church of York, and a very large number of other records, which letters and records having been inspected and carefully examined by the same commissaries, and other men learned in the law assisting them, because that we have received account upon the assurance of the said commissaries, and that the Religious themselves were and are sufficiently protected with regard to the acquisition and retention of the said churches, chapels, shares, yearly payments, and the receiving of the fruits, rents and crops appertaining to the same, we discharge them from further attack on the part of our office, so far as the above points are concerned, by these presents, to which we have caused our seal to be fixed in testimony of the above. Given at Thorpe* near York, the twenty second day of the month of August, A.D. one thousand three hundred and sixty three, and the eleventh of our translation.]

.D. 1394.

The Headship of Whitby Abbey being vacated by the death of Peter of Hartlepool in August 1394, and Thomas de Bolton succeeding in the same year, an inventory was made, and it was found that there was "at Ingylby, wheat 60 quarters, and oats 30 qrs." In a list of repairs needed at this time we find that "Ingilby requires £13 6s. 8d."

The subjoined charter is also in the Whitby collection.

201. Concerning the annual payments of the Churches by Richard Lord Archbishop of York.

In the name of God, Amen. We, Richard, Archbishop of York aforesaid, &c.

* That is, of course, Bishopthorpe.

From the account of several persons worthy of credit we have learnt that the Religious men, the Abbot and Monks of the Monastery of Whitby in our diocese, allege that they hold the parish churches of Seamer, of Hackness, of Whitby, of Ayton, of Ingleby, of Middlesbrough, with the chapels dependent upon the same, for their own personal uses against our common right; they also actually receive certain shares of the tithe stooks in the churches of Naffreton and Foxholes, as well as the annual payments hereafter stated—viz. from the church of Hutton Bushell forty shillings, from the church of Sutton upon Derwent six shillings and eight pence, from the church of Kirby in Cleveland, sixty six shillings and eight pence, from the church of Slingsby, 13s. 4d., from the church of Huntington, 13s. 4d., and from the church of Skirpenbeck 13s. 4d., and they convert to their own personal uses the fruits, rents and crops accruing from the aforesaid churches, as well as the shares and yearly payments above-written, and have received and converted them to uses of this kind for no inconsiderable time past; and that in the said churches of Hackness, of Whitby, Ayton, Ingleby, and of Middlesbrough there are no fixed shares for vicars, nor any Perpetual Vicars appointed:—Wishing therefore to be more fully informed about the right of the said Religious whether they had anything particular to say for themselves in this matter, we caused the same Religious to be cited for a certain day and place for judgment (to be given) in our presence on the above matters. On their appearing before us by their advocate, empowered with sufficient authority in this matter, at the day and place appointed for them, and some letters having been produced by the advocate of the same Religious, both apostolical and of certain of our predecessors, and a very large number of other records, and these having been inspected and carefully examined by us, and having been fully discussed and investigated by a council of men learned in the law assisting us:—Because we find that the said Religious as regards the acquisition of the said churches, the receiving of the fruits, rents and crops, as well as of the same shares, and annual payments aforesaid, and as regards all the rest of the matters above mentioned have had and have a sufficient claim, we by a decree discharge them from further attack on the part of our office so far as the above points are concerned, our right and that of our successors, and the liberty of our Cathedral Church of York being always preserved in all things. Given in our Manor of Reste, the twentieth day of the month of September, A.D. one thousand, four hundred and two, and the fifth of our translation.]

John de Thoresby was Archbishop of York from 1353 to 1374; and Richard Scrope from 1398 to 1407.

A.D. 1511. In the will of Mrs. Conyers of Stokesley, made in A.D. 1511, she gives to William, son of John Robinson of Greenhow, a bowl. Mrs. Conyers was Katherine, daughter of John Robinson of Stokesley, and widow of Nicholas Conyers of Stokesley, Gent., son of Christopher Conyers Esq. of Hornby. She desires to be buried in the Church of Stokesley.

A.D. 1541. Sir James Strangways died without issue, April 26, 1541. In the account of possessions left by him is mentioned the Manor of Greenhow.

In the Records of Quarter Sessions for the North Riding there are several references to the parish of Ingleby.

A.D. 1611. In the list of Recusants presented in April, 1611, is the following, "Grenehow, parish of Ingleby. Ursula Wilson, aged and poore. Battersby, Elizth wife of Chr. Gregg."* In July of the same year the same two names occur. In the list presented at Helmsley, Oct. 1, 1612, we have the following:—"Greenhow. Ursula Wilson (60), widow. Alex. Wilson† (40), and Mary (30), his wife. Ingleby Greenhow. None. Battersby. Elizth (56), wife of Chr. Gregg, labr."

A.D. 1612. At the Quarter Sessions held at Helmsley, Jan 8, 1613, "John Richardson, constable of Battersby was presented for not appearing at the Petty Sessions before the head constables &c."†

A.D. 1614. In the list of Recusants in 1614 occurs the entry, "Battersby. Elizth, wife of Chr. Gregge, above 17, Rect 7 years." Again in 1616 we have "Battersby, parish of Inglebie Greenhow—Elizth, wife of Chr. Gregg, labr."†

A.D. 1615. Among the presentations at the Quarter Sessions at Helmsley, July 11, 1615, is the following:—"Three Ingleby Grenehow men for burninge the common stockes upon May-day last at night."†

Among the presentations made at the Quarter Sessions held at Thirsk, Sep. 30, A.D. 1619. 1619, is the following:—"Geo. Ledine, of Ingleby Greenhow, weaver, and his wife Elizth, with a man and his wife from York, for stealing a shirte, value 6d., and a linnen shete, value 6d. &c."†

Mr. George Markham Tweddell has very kindly furnished us with the following A.D. 1729. note. "On July 28th, 1729, William Parkinson was sentenced to death at York Assizes, for the murder of a Scotch drover, named Archibald Noble, in a close at Great Broughton. He was brought alive from York to be hung and gibbeted, on Friday, Aug. 15, 1729. He ate a hearty dinner of beef-steaks and potatoes as they rested on their way at the Old Three Tuns Inn, at Stokesley. He was then taken through Broughton, a psalm being sung at the time, and was hung and gibbeted on Turkey Nab. As the gibbet was visible at Ingleby Manor, and an eye-sore to the Foulis family, they connived at some one letting down the gibbet, which lay for some time, and may now be seen in the roof of the blacksmith's shop connected with the Black Horse Inn at Great Broughton."

A.D. 1753.

In 1753,* a tripple murder was committed at Ingleby. We have been favoured with the inspection of a pamphlet, entitled "The Trial, Conviction, Condemnation, Confession and Execution of William Smith, For Poisoning his Father-in-law, Thomas Harper, and William and Anne Harper his children, at Ingleby-Manor, in Yorkshire, by mixing Arsenick in a Good-Friday Cake, who was tried on Monday the 13th of August, at the Assizes held at the Castle at York, before Mr. Serjeant Eyre, And Executed on Wednesday the 15th, and afterwards dissected by the Surgeons of that Place." There was at the time a local superstition that those who on Good Friday partook of a cake made purposely to be eaten on that day should never want money or victuals all the year round. Smith, whose object it was to secure his father-in-law's farm, put the arsenic, which he had purchased at Great Ayton, into the flour from which he knew that the cake was to be made. On Good Friday he partook of dinner at his father-in-law's, but of course avoided the cake. No suspicion rested upon him until he absconded on Easter Day, or rather during the night between Saturday and Sunday. His intention was to go to Ireland, but, having reached Liverpool, he returned, and was taken near his father's house at Great Broughton on May 4th. He was hanged at the gallows, without Micklegate Bar, York. Before his execution he confessed his crime, and also left the following letter addressed to his wife :—

"My Dear Betty, I am an undone man ; I have brought shame on myself, and on you, and my dear infant. But do not think any more of such an unworthy person as I am. It is well I am dead, for who knows I might have poisoned you and my child. Think no more of me. Look on me as quite lost, and as though there never had been such a person. But let me recommend to you farmer Alcock's son, who courted you before I did. Marry him and carry on the farm, and as my son grows up, pray do not let him know there ever was such an unhappy person as I am. Farewell ! Walk in the paths of virtue and sobriety ; go to church, and mind what is good. You know I did not love to go to Church, and you see now what is come of it. Aug. 14, 1753.

William Smith.

P.S. Pray breed up my son in the paths of virtue, and teach him his Lord's Prayer, Ten Commandments, to read in the Testament, and to go to Church."

Thomas Pierson, of Stokesley, founded his tragedy of "The Treacherous Son in Law" upon the circumstances of this murder. A piece of Smith's tanned skin is still preserved in the Museum at Kirkleatham.

We append one or two miscellaneous notes.

(1.) In several parts of Cleveland there are ancient slag heaps, and in some instances within the memory of men now living the remains of the primitive furnaces in which the iron was imperfectly smelted still survived. An old record, of the date of 1328, exists, which recites a grant made in 1209 by Robert de Stuteville to the nuns of Rosedale of a meadow in that dale for iron-smelting purposes. Remains of two old slag heaps still exist in the township of Greenhow. Here as elsewhere the stone used was the Oolitic, not the Liassic.

* See Register, p. 133.

(2.) Some interesting place-names occur in the parish, e.g. Tarry Brown Hill, (on the Ordnance Maps corrupted into Tidy Brown Hill,) Blue Mells, (on the Ordnance Maps termed Blue Bell Trough,) Gilsey, Rudd Scar, Whitley, Turkey Nab, The Ings, Farnsides, Gilder Tofts*, Tranmer, Otter Hills. But the most interesting of all is the name "Greenhow Botton," applied to the upper, secluded, and somewhat depressed portion of the township of Greenhow, which is as it were cut off from the rest by the green "howe." The upper portion of Danby Dale is similarly termed Danby Botton. Graves† says, "At a little distance towards the South, lies the township of Greenhowe, a part of which, significantly called Greenhowe-Bottom, is a narrow secluded vale, so deeply entrenched with mountains that here (like some parts of Borrowdale in Cumberland) in the depth of winter the sun never shines." Botton is from O. N. botn, a bottom, and O. Sw. bottn. In both of these dialects the word is employed to denote the innermost recesses of the sea, and the Gulf of Bothnia is called Norrbotttn. But the Old Northmen seem to have applied the word precisely as it is applied in Cleveland.‡

(3.) Mention is made elsewhere of most of those, who are worthy of mention, and in any way connected with the parish. We may however here note that in the list of those reputed to be gentlemen in each wapentake and summoned to appear to enter their pedigree in 1584-5 occurs the name of "Thomas Warcopp de Greenhow, gen." In the Register will be found the baptism of Merioll Warcope (1546), and of Thomas Warcope (1549), and the marriage of Willm Robinsoñ & Francis Warcup (1566).

In Tweddell's "Bards and Authors of Cleveland," p. 206, is a notice of Jabez Cole, with a sonnet written by him in Ingleby Churchyard. Mr. Cole, who is the author of a book, entitled "The Witch of Endor," is still living at Osmotherley. James Milligan, author of "The Hills and Vale of Cleveland, and other Poems," was a native of Ingleby, and the record of his baptism occurs in the registers, as follows: "Feb. 20, 1825, James, son of Sarah Mimikin, Ingleby, Spinster."

THE MANORS AND MANOR HOUSES.

At the time of the Conquest Ingleby was possessed by Hauuart or Hauuard. At the period of the Domesday Survey it was held by Malgrin and Siward Barn, "the king's thegns." It seems to have been granted along with Battersby and the barony of Stokesley, perhaps about A.D. 1093, to Guy de Balliol. Adam de Ingleby may not improbably have been the owner in the earlier half of the 12th century. Hugh de Balliol conveyed it to his daughter Ada on her marriage with John de Fitz Robert Lord Eure. From the Eures it was purchased in 1609 by Sir David Foulis. By the marriage of Mary, only child of the late Sir William Foulis, it became, together with Greenhow and Battersby, the property of the Right Hon: Philip, Baron de L'Isle and Dudley, of Penshurst, Kent.

In the account of the purchase by Sir David Foulis of the manors of Ingleby and Battersby mention is made of "the manor houses." There were two of these—one at Ingleby, the other at Battersby. The former was the residence of the Eures. It is now known as Ingleby Manor, and is a seat of Lord De L'Isle and Dudley. It is described by Graves as "a respectable and commodious mansion," and by Ord as "a noble, massive, antique residence." It is Elizabethan in point of date, but has been somewhat modernised. It is of quadrangular form and in part covered by ivy. A fine avenue of limes and chestnuts, half a mile in length, extends from the Church to the Manor House.

* See Gildrecost, p. xxvi., ante.

When the Domesday survey was made Battersby appears still to have been possessed by Hauuart. It is spoken of as "an ancient demesne of the crown." It came with Ingleby to the Balliols, and is said to have been at an early period the property of the Percies. It afterwards passed to the Eures, from whom it was purchased along with Ingleby.

On the site of the ancient manor house of Battersby stands what is now known as "Battersby Hall." It would appear that Henry de Percy, mentioned in charter 357 of the Whitby collection, resided here in the early period of the 13th century. During a considerable portion at least of the 16th century, and down to 1639, a branch of the Ridley family lived here. It was possibly afterwards occupied by Mark Middleton, gent., respecting whom we have entries in the years 1650, 1651, 1652, 1653, 1654, and 1655. It has long been a farm house, and is now let as two cottages. It was purchased by the late Sir William Foulis after having been for some time the freehold of a family named Carter. Some portions of the present house may be 200 or 300 years old, but there are remains showing that it was once much more extensive. We learn from Captain Battersby of Cromlyn, Ireland, that there is a tradition in his family that they originated from a Battersby Hall in Yorkshire, but there is no direct evidence to connect them with our Battersby. We are indebted to Mr. George Markham Tweddell for the information that "Catharine, one of the daughters of the sixth and last Earl of Westmoreland, (who had fled from England after the failure of the rebellion of 1569,) was privately married in the Manor House at Battersby, Nov. 7th, 1575, to Thomas Grey, of Chillingham in Northumberland."

The manor of Greenhow is not mentioned in Domesday Book. It came through the Meynells of Whorlton to the D'Arcies, in which family it remained until, in the reign of Hen. VIII., Thomas Lord D'Arcy was beheaded for taking part in the Pilgrimage of Grace, and his estates were forfeited to the crown. Greenhow seems to have remained in the crown until the reign of James I., when it was granted by letters patent to Sir David Foulis.

THE CHURCH.

In the existing Parish Church of Ingleby some portions of the original Norman church still survive. These include the shafts of a fine arcade on the north side, which are alternately round and pentagonal. There are four entire pillars, and a half pillar at each end. The capitals of the pillars are ornamented by early Norman carvings in a good state of preservation—four on each pillar—two on each half pillar. Commencing with the half pillar at the east end of the nave we have on it a representation of a wild boar and a wolf. The ornamentation of the first entire pillar would seem to consist of conventional vegetable forms, and that of the following one of sea monsters. The two and a half pillars to the west are occupied by grotesque human or semi-human heads and busts.

The Norman arch between the nave and chancel also still survives, at least in its lower portions, but it is in a great measure covered up in last century plaster, and its true character somewhat disguised. There is also a piece of Norman moulding over the door of the chancel. The existing font is apparently of Norman origin, but has been to a considerable extent re-modelled.

With the exception of the tower, which is considerably older, as shown by the Gothic moulding of its four window-openings, and the Norman work above referred to, the church was rebuilt in 1741, as the following inscription, carved on a stone over the south porch, records:—"This Church was rebuilt at the Parishioners Expence 1741. H. Ripley, T. Morley, I. Hutchinson, Churchwardens. W. Ripley, Mason."

The present church consists of nave, chancel, north aisle, and bell-tower. At the east end of the chancel is a wooden reredos, probably dating from 1741, containing the Ten Commandments, the Lord's Prayer, and the Creed. At the two sides of this are painted the figures of Moses and Aaron, which are very well executed and preserved. In the wall at the west end, outside, is a fragment of an old tomb-covering, on which is a portion of an incised cross.

Within the communion rails in the chancel are two effigies, which, until a few years ago, were in the church-yard. One of these is described in another place. The other is that of a knight, and has been considerably mutilated. The figure is not in armour, but in a loose robe. Round his shoulder he carries a baldrick, and suspended from a belt on the left side is a sword. The hands are clasped in an attitude of prayer. A richly-carved canopy surmounts the head. The inscription, which originally ran along the top of this, is almost obliterated and quite illegible, but the figure probably represents some member of Eure family. An engraving of it is given in Ord's History of Cleveland.

In the tower are two small bells of the date of the 18th century.

The whole of the windows of the church were renewed in cathedral glass with coloured margins at the date of Queen Victoria's Jubilee in 1887.

The handsome silver Communion Plate, now in use, was presented by Mildred, wife of the Sir William Foulis, who died in 1756. It is of the date of about 1749. It consists of flaggon, chalice, and paten, together weighing over 4 lbs., and each piece bearing the following inscription:—"This Plate was Given to the Parish of Ingleby Greenhow By the Hon^{ble} Dame Mildred Foulis." The ancient silver chalice of the date of 1571 still survives. The cover of this, which served as a paten, has this date engraved upon it. A cup of the same date still exists at Ingleby Arncliffe. The chalice-cover probably served as paten till about 1720, at which date a small silver paten was obtained, which we still have. Two old pewter almsdishes also still survive, and the pewter dish in the font is still in use.

The three oldest Register Books are of parchment with parchment covers, and each contains the records of Christenings, Marriages, and Burials. The "olde booke" mentioned at p. 9 of the printed Register was no doubt of paper. On Oct. 25th, 1597 it was ordered by the Convocation of Canterbury, and afterwards by that of York, and approved under the great seal of England, that parchment registers should be provided, and the entries in the paper books transcribed into them from the beginning of Queen Elizabeth's reign. This order was evidently acted upon at Ingleby, where a register had been commenced by the individual first appointed by Lord Eure to serve the cure after the dissolution of Whitby Abbey. The first book contains entries from 1539 to 1653, but the marriages do not begin till 1560. The second covers the period from 1653 to 1700. The third from 1701 to 1765. In 1754, however, "A Marriage Register Book for the Parish of Ingleby Greenhow, according to Act of Parliament" was presented by William Foulis, Esq., and this contains entries from 1754 to 1812, many of them being duplicates of entries in the other books. This Register has a parchment cover. A large book, bound in boards, contains the records of Christenings and Burials from 1765 to 1803, and of Marriages from 1766 to 1793. Another large book in boards is in great measure a blank, but contains Christenings at one end, and Burials at the other between 1804 and 1812. In pursuance of Act of Parliament, 52 Geo. III., Cap. 146 (passed July 28, 1812) three new Register-Books were procured for Baptisms, Marriages and Burials respectively, and came into use in 1813. The Burials' Register of this date is still in use. The Register of Christenings became full in 1873, and a similar book was obtained. The Act of 6 and 7 William IV., Cap. 86, caused the Marriage Register of 1813 to be superseded in 1838 by duplicate volumes still in use.

Besides the Registers the parish chest contains 36 Orders of Settlement, dating from 1706 to 1819, 23 Affiliation Orders, dating from 1796 to 1834, and 22 Indentures, dating from 1765 to 1814.

THE INCUMBENCY.

"The Church of Ingleby with all its appurtenances" was granted to the Abbey of Whitby by Adam de Ingleby, the son of Vitalis, between 1143 and 1147. The patronage continued in the possession of the Abbey until its dissolution, when it was granted to Sir Ralph Eure. In 1609 it was purchased, with the Ingleby Estate, by Sir David Foulis, and remained in the family of Foulis until the present Lord de L'Isle and Dudley by his marriage with Mary Foulis became with her joint patron and impropiator. The living is valued in Pope Nicholas's taxation at £12; nova tax £7 6s. 8d. In 1707 it was certified at £13 13s. 4d. In 1720 it was augmented with £200 to meet a benefaction of £200 from Sir William Foulis, and in 1761 with £200 to meet a similar benefaction.

The earliest terrier in the Parish Registers is undated, but belongs to about the year 1754. It is as follows:—

"A Terrier and Account of the Glebe Lands, Salary, Offerings and other Ecclesiastical Dues belonging to the Curacy of Ingleby-Greenhow.

Ten Acres of Glebe-land in the Parish of Stockton in the County of Durham.

One Acre and a half of Glebe-land in Great Broughton in the Parish of Kirkby.

In a later hand there is the following addition to this terrier :—" Twenty two Acre of Glebe Land in the Parish of West Rounton in y^e County of York."

In 1818 the living was certified as being worth £60 15s.

In 1863 Lord de L'Isle and Dudley granted to the Benefice of Ingleby a new Vicarage House and premises together with 930 square yards of land upon which the house stands. To meet this grant the Ecclesiastical Commissioners appropriated from their common fund £567, thus securing to the incumbent an annual payment of £18 18s.

In 1872 the Vicarage House was enlarged. The cost of this extension was met by a loan of £150 from Queen Anne's Bounty to be repaid in annual instalments by the vicar for the time being.

The present income of the benefice is made up as follows :—

Reiner is mentioned three times in the Whitby Chartulary. "R——, Persona de Engelbi" (85). "Reinerii, Clerici sui" (55). "Rainero Clerico" (52). The date of Charter 55 is certainly not later than 1181; and the date of 52 certainly not earlier than 1143. From 55 it would appear that Reiner had been "persona" when the church of Ingleby was originally granted to the abbey of Whitby. Ord says that Bernard de Balliol confirmed to the monks of Fountains all the lands which Ernald, son of Bence, had given them at Dromonby. The family of this Ernald were great landed proprietors in the 12th century. His sister Josciana de Kirby was the mother of "Reinerus cleric' de Englebi"; elsewhere called Ernald Avun'clus.

In Archbishop Gray's Register occurs the following—"340. Scroby, 7 id. Oct. xxii. W. Dei gratia, etc. dilecto in Christo filio Michaeli rectori ecclesiæ de Lengeby* salutem etc. Mandatum domini papæ suscepimus in hæc verba. The following extract is also from Archbishop Gray's Register.

"470. Wilton, 7 id. Maii xxxiii (May 9th, 1248). Institution of Mr. Simon de Nevill to the church of Lengheby, at the presentation of the abbat and convent of Wytteby."

The effigy of Vilks de Wrelton, after lying for a long period in the church-yard of Ingleby, subject to all the influences of weather, was some few years ago brought into the church, and now lies on the north side of the altar in the chancel. It is in an excellent state of preservation, and is a recumbent figure of a priest in full vestments. The tonsured head reposes on a cushion, and on one side of it is the chalice, on the other the missal. The hands are laid together in an attitude of prayer. The above-mentioned inscription runs down the front of the chasuble, which is ornamented by a flowered border.

Henry Rontre, Vicar of Kirby-in-Cleveland, whose marriage with Anne Dixon in 1578, is recorded in the Register,* may possibly have held the living of Ingleby along with the Vicarage of Kirby.

John Blackburn performed the very useful and meritorious work of copying over from an older book into the book still existing, the records of Baptisms, Marriages and Burials from 1539 to 1590. In 1601 he married Anne Brasse,† and had children, William, baptised Oct. 14, 1601; John baptised Jan. 29, 1604, buried 1620; Anthony, baptised Feb. 21, 1606.

William Boweston ministered in the parish church during a lengthened period, and one which saw much change. But in the quiet seclusion of Ingleby he probably experienced but little, even in the time of the Commonwealth, of that reverse of fortune to which most clergymen were then subjected. The fact that he was elected registrar of marriages under the Commonwealth testifies to the fact that he was held in esteem by the parishioners, or at all events by the squire by whose wish no doubt the peasantry would be guided. On the return of the old order of things he became parish priest as before. In one of the Ingleby registers is the following entry:—"The 25th of September 1653. Upon a Certificate of the Inhabitants of the parrish of Inglebye Greenhow that they have made choise of M^r. Boweston for their parrish Register I doe hereby approve of their said Election & doe authorize the said M^r. Boweston to act as Register of the said parrish he being sworne before me to execute the said place according to a late Act of Parliament in that case made and provided in witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand the day & yeare above written.

Mr. Boweston's wife was buried Nov. 4, 1635, and his child, Robert, baptised Oct. 25, 1635, was buried Dec. 4, 1635. A daughter seems to have outlived him, as in 1697 we have the burial recorded of Elizabeth Curwen daughter of William Boweston. The record of Mr. Boweston's own burial will be found in the Register under date April 24, 1680.

The Rev. Henry Mason's marriage is recorded in the Register* as follows:—"1694 Henricus Mason, et Elizabetha filia Domini Thomæ Clarke de Sigston Rectoris, matrimonio cōjuncti sunt in Ecclēsiā Parochiali de Sigston prædict: Aprilis duodecimo; nuptias celebrante Dño Timotheo Overend." From the Register it will also be seen that his daughter Catharine was born April 7th, 1695, and baptised on the 16th. His wife died on the 23rd of November in that year, and was buried on the 25th. On the 4th of February following his daughter Catharine was buried. Henry Mason himself was buried July 1, 1703.

The baptisms of two children of Peter Moone are recorded in the Register; Dorothy in 1710, and John in 1711. He was buried at Ingleby in 1719.

He was nominated to the Curacy of Great Ayton by Sir H. Marwood in 1718.

Mention will be found of Samuel Hassell among the benefactors of Ingleby.

William Spedding was married to Margaret Hodgson of Stokesley, May 14, 1766. He was buried June 26, 1784, and Mrs. Spedding Nov. 28, 1786. A large tabular tombstone in the Ingleby church-yard bears the following inscription:—"To the Memory of The Rev^d William Spedding formerly Curate of this Place who died the 23^d of June 1784 Aged 63 years."

Mr. Dixon was a native of Troutbeck, Westmoreland. A marble tablet to his memory on the south wall of the nave of Ingleby church contains the inscription which follows:—"Sacred to the memory of the Late Rev^d John Dixon, incumbent of this parish 50 years, who died March 5, 1846 aged 80 years. Also of Elizabeth his wife who died Oct^r 1, 1818 aged 43 years."

Mr. Fletcher held the living of Bilsdale as well as that of Ingleby, as Mr. Dixon also did. He resided at Bilsdale Vicarage, and was buried in Bilsdale church, in which a tablet is erected to his memory. The name of Mrs. Fletcher will be found in the list of benefactors to Ingleby.

The Rev. Ralph Prowde is now (1888) Vicar of Kilburn, near York, and the Rev. Henry Toovey is Diocesan Inspector of Schools in Religious Knowledge in the Diocese of York.

The Rev. John Hawell was presented to the living in 1880 by Lord and Lady De L'Isle and Dudley at the age of 24, after having held the curacy of All Saints, Pontefract for one year as a deacon.

Mr. Fletcher's Curates were

Henry B. Sands	1848—1849.

THE BENEFACTORS OF INGLEBY GREENHOW.

On a board on the north wall of the nave of the parish church is the following table of donations:—

(2.) Left by Gregory Rowland to be paid out of Lands at Whitlow*	40	0	0
(5.) Left by the said S. Hassel, the Interest of which Sum to be paid for the Education of one poor Child	10	0	0

(1.) According to Lawton's "Collectio" "The sum of £3 per annum is derived from William Askew's gift and is paid by Sir William ffoulis as interest of £60 which has been for a great length of time in his family, and is said to have been given in 1542 for the use of the poor."

The Askews appear to have been people of some importance in the parish in the 16th and 17th centuries. In the Torre M.S. are the following testamentary burials:—"25 Febr. A.D. 1505. Tho. Ayscogh gent. of Ingleby Greenhawe made his will proved giving his Soul to God Alm. St^e Mary & All Saints. And his body to be buried in y^e pish Ch : of Yngleby before the ymage of St^e Mary in y^e N. side of the Church.

28 Julij A.D. 1507 Edw. Ayscoght of Greenhow made his will (proved 17 Aug. 1507) giving his soul ut supra And his body to be buried in y^e Pish Kirk of Ingleby near the buriall of his fader."

In the list of Recusants presented at Helmsley Quarter Sessions, Jan. 12, 1638⁵, occurs the following:—"Allan Ascough of Ingleby near Greenehow, Esq., and Ann his wife; Rob. Ascough his Son, gentⁿ, Elizth his dau^{tr}, sp^r: all of the same."

(2.) This item as it appears on the board in the church is slightly misleading. What Gregory Rowland left was not a sum of £40, but "a yearly Rent Charge or sum of 40 shillings of lawful British Money to be issuing out of and charged upon all those my two Closes or parcels of meadow ground commonly called or known by the name of Whitley Hill or by whatsoever other name or names the same are or have been called known or distinguished containing together by estimation thirteen acres or thereabouts be the same more or less being of the yearly value of five pounds or thereabouts and by me purchased of Roger Stonehouse and Sarah his wife." This Rent Charge he gave and devised in 1733 "to William ffoulis Esq. only son and heir apparent of St^r W^m ffowlis of Ingleby Manor in the County of Yorke Baronett his heirs and assigns for ever," "to be payable and paid to the said

* A small hill in the parish, where formerly a farm house stood.

W^m ffowlis, his Heirs and Assigns upon the first day of May and the 11th day of November in every year by equal proportions without any abatement or deduction of or for any Taxes, Charges, Rates, Assessments or other matter or thing whatsoever, imposed or to be imposed by any Act or Acts of Parliament already or hereafter to be made or otherwise howsoever," "upon the special trust and Confidence and to the intent and purpose that the said W^m ffowlis his heirs and assigns shall for ever pay the same by half yearly equall payments to the Overseers of the poor of the Parish of Ingleby aforesaid for the time being as and when the same shall become due and be had and received, and the Minister Churchwardens and Overseers of the Poor of the said Parish or the major part of them for the time being shall for ever pay and distribute the said yearly Rent or Sum by half yearly and equall payments at Christmas Eve and Whitsun Eve in every year to and amongst such poor people from time to time inhabiting and legally settled within the parish of Ingleby aforesaid." He further directs that in case of an equality of votes the Minister shall have a casting vote, and that the "Minister, Churchwardens and Overseers of the poor shall from time to time for ever be accountable and liable to render all account of their duly distributing the said Charity to such person or persons as for the time being shall be owner or owners of Ingleby Mannor aforesaid whenever such owner or owners shall be pleased to require and take upon them the trouble of inspecting the same." He earnestly requests and desires the Minister &c. to "always have the greatest regard to the most old and impotent poor." The above extracts are taken from his will in the York Diocesan Registry. His burial will be found in the Register under date Nov. 20, 1733.

(3.) In the Register of Burials* we have the following entry :—"Buried 1723 Robert Snowden December the 23."

(4.) The first mention of this Charity in the Churchwardens' Account Books is under date May 15, 1769 :—"Received of S^r W^m Foulis Bar^t the sum of Seven Shillings being in full for half a year's Interest of Twenty Pounds due this Whitsuntide for the use of the Poor of the Parish of Ingleby Greenhow left by the Rev^d Samuel Hassell and to be at the nomination of S^r W^m Foulis Bar^t and his heirs for ever."

(5.) In 1816 this sum, together with (3.), (4.) and (6.) was invested in 4 per cent stock. Respecting this investment Lawton's "Collectio" says :—"In 1816 the sum of £100 four per cents was purchased with £75 the amount of the following donations, viz. £40 and £5 given by John Carter and Robert Snowden respectively for the poor. £20 given by the Rev. Samuel Hassell for the like purpose ; and £10 also given by him for educating one poor child. The sum of 10 shillings is paid to the Schoolmaster and the residue of the dividend is distributed among the poor." The money was invested on Jan. 27, 1816, in the names of John Phillips, Thomas Hoggart and William Garbutt. The stock was paid off at par in 1824, and the redemption money was received by Mess^{rs} Barclay and Co. as Attorneys on the 9th October of that year.

(6.) This Charity is mentioned on the first page of the oldest Churchwardens' Account Book as follows :—"December 26th 1745. The Interest for forty pounds for one year left by John Carter, due at Martinmas last, £1 12s." It was perhaps left by "John Carter Householder" who was buried April 24, 1737.

(7.) Some reference to this item will be found in the account of Ingleby School.

(8.) In the Register of Burials mention will be found of that of Robert Watson of Stockton on July 14, 1838, aged 73 years. In the register of Baptisms* is the following entry:—"Feb^y y^e 4th 1766 Robert the son of Thomas Watson." On a stone in the Ingleby Church-yard is the following inscription:—"Erected in memory of Robert Watson who died July 14th 1838 aged 73 years. Also Elizabeth his Wife who died February 11th 1849, aged 75 years." The first mention of Mr. Watson's bequest in the Churchwardens' Account Books is as follows:—"Decr. 26, 1839 rec^d at the same time the half-year's Interest of One Hundred Pounds given by Mr. Robert Watson for the use of the Industrious poor of the Parish of Ingleby-Greenhow, £2."

(9.) The following is an extract from "the will of Mrs. Frances Fletcher of St. Paul's Square in the suburbs of the city of York widow deceased dated the 24th day of October 1879":—"I give and bequeath the sum of one hundred pounds free from legacy duty to the Incumbent for the time being of the parish of Ingleby Greenhow in the county of York to be invested by him in his name upon any government security or securities as he shall deem safe or expedient and with full power for the Incumbent for the time being of the said Parish of Ingleby Greenhow from time to time to vary and transpose the security or securities for another or others of a like nature as he may deem expedient and Upon Trust to apply the interest dividends and other annual income thereof in the purchase of coals to be distributed yearly at Christmas amongst the poor of the said parish of Ingleby Greenhow according to the discretion of the Incumbent for the time being of the said last mentioned parish." The amount was invested in Consolidated £3 per cent. Annuities on June 18, 1885, in the name of John Hawell.

The Churchwardens' Account Books contain several notices of small sums given or left for distribution to the poor of the parish. "Rec^d March 30th 1752 of St. W^m ffoulis Barr^t the sum of five pounds left by the late Lady Graham, to be distributed amongst the poore of the parish." "Rec^d December 19th 1756 of St. W^m ffoulis Barr^t the sum of Three pounds, three shillings att the death of the late St. W^m ffoulis Barr^t, as a gift to the poore of the parish." "Rec^d March 16th 1758 of St. W^m ffoulis Barr^t and his Lady the Sum of five pounds five shillings as a Gift to be distributed amongst the poore of the parish." "April the 10th 1768 The Gift of Mrs. Elizabeth Kitcheon to the poor of the parish of Ingleby Greenhow being £1 1s. 0d." "Jan^y the 22^d 1769 Given by the Executrix of Mr. George Duck of Little Broughton to be distributed amongst the poor of the Parish of Ingleby Greenhow one pound one shilling." "1770. Jane Corney's Gift to the Parish to be distributed amongst the poor being one Guinea." "February the 13th 1780. Received of William Coul the Sum of five pounds left by William Eldin to the poor of the parish." "December 27th 1802. Lady Mary Ann Foulis Widow of the late Sir William Foulis Bart. presented the Poor of the Parish with £5 5s. 0d." "1816. A Donation of £5 5s. 0d. to the Poor of the Parish of Ingleby Greenhow by the Rev^d Danson Richardson Currer M.A." "£10 0s. 0d. A Donation given by the Rev^d Henry Foulis for the Use of the Poor of Ingleby Greenhow."

The following extract is from the "Report of the Commissioners for Inquiring Concerning Charities."

"Askew's Gift. The sum of £3 per annum is paid by Sir William Foulis, as interest of a sum of £60 which has for a great length of time been in the hands of his family, and is stated in the returns of charitable donations made in 1786, to have been given by William Askew in 1542, for the use of the poore. The application of this yearly sum is mentioned below.

"Rowland's Rent-charge. A yearly rent-charge or annuity of £2 was given for the poor of the parish by the will of Gregory Rowland, in 1733, out of lands at Whitley, in this parish, the property of Sir William Foulis. This payment is regularly made, and the money is distributed in the manner mentioned below.

"One Hundred Pounds Four per cent Stock. In 1816, the sum of £100 four per cent consolidated annuities, was purchased with £75 the amount of the following donations; viz. £40 and £5 given or left by John Carter and Robert Snowden respectively, for the poor of the parish, £20 given by the Reverend Samuel Hassell for the like purpose, and £10 left by the Reverend Samuel Hassell for educating a poor child. The stock is standing in the names of John Phillips, Thomas Hoggard, and William Garbut, as trustees. The sum of 10s. a year, part of the annual dividends, is paid to the school-master; the residue, £3 10s. together with £5 the amount of interest of Askew's gift and Rowland's rent-charge, is distributed on two days in the year by the minister and churchwardens of Ingleby, among such poor people of the parish as they select."

THE SCHOOL.

In Lawton's "Collectio" (1840) is the following:—"The annual sum of £3 10s. is paid by Sir W. Foulis Bart., the Lord of the Manor, to the School. It is the interest of £100 given or left by a person named John Rowland for educating poor children. The schoolmaster also receives 10 shilling a year as interest of £10 left by the Rev. Sam. Hassell for educating one poor child. A dwelling for the master and a school have been erected on the waste by subscription. The master is usually appointed by the Lord of the Manor, and instructs four free scholars in reading, writing and arithmetic."

Ord, in his "History of Cleveland" (1846),* says "A dwelling for the master and a school have been erected, at the expense of Sir William (Foulis) and the parishioners; and a teacher is appointed, to educate the scholars in reading, writing, and arithmetic."

The following notice of the school is copied from the "Report of the Commissioners for Inquiring Concerning Charities" (p. 719). "An annual sum of £3 10s. is paid by Sir William Foulis, baronet, lord of the manor of Ingleby Greenhow, to the master of the school there for his stipend. This payment appears to be made as the interest of £100 which, according to the tradition of the place, was given or left by a person named John Rowland, who was living in 1766, for the education of poor children, and secured upon lands at Whitley, in this parish, the property of Sir William Foulis. We have found no document or evidence in writing relating to the gift or security."

"The schoolmaster also receives 10s. a year as interest of £10 left by the Reverend Samuel Hassell, for educating one poor child, and which £10 was laid out with other funds in the purchase of four per cent annuities, as mentioned hereafter.

"A dwelling for the master, and a school, were erected on the waste by subscription of the parishioners, several years ago.

"The schoolmaster is usually appointed by the lord of the manor and the minister, and has no other permanent emoluments than such as are mentioned above. The master instructs four poor children, who are usually nominated by some of the family of Sir William Foulis, as free scholars, in reading and writing, and in arithmetic when required, and he has several other scholars under his care educated at the expense of their friends."

In 1875 the school was enlarged at the expense of Lord and Lady De L'Isle and Dudley, assisted by a grant of £95 from the Education Department. About the same time the school, the schoolmaster's house, and a piece of land for a playground, were granted by Lord and Lady De L'Isle and Dudley to a committee, consisting of the Vicar and Churchwardens of the parish for the time being, together with two elected members, to be used for educational purposes in connection with the National Society for the Education of the Children of the Poor in the Principles of the Church of England. An annual grant is received from the Education Department.

Sir John de Eure, æt. 22, 20 Ed. II. Died 1367.

Camden is no doubt right in deriving the name of the Eure family from the village of Eure in Buckinghamshire, which was granted by King Richard I. to John de Fitz-Robert. The Eures of Ingleby were descended from a younger branch of the barons of Warkworth. John de Fitz-Robert, 3rd baron of Warkworth, was the first member of his family who was connected with Ingleby, inasmuch as he obtained it along with Stokesley on his marriage with Ada, dau. of Hugh, grandson of Bernard de Balliol. She was sister to John de Balliol, the founder (1263) of Balliol College, Oxford, and aunt to John de Balliol, King of Scotland. In 1223-4 John de Eure obtained a charter for a fair to be held at Stokesley on the eve and day of St. Thomas the martyr. He was sheriff of Northumberland 1224-7.

Apparently in the life-time of her husband Ada de Eure conveyed the manor-house of Stokesley, with half of that barony, and the advowson of fifteen churches, and half of the forest of Basedale, to her son Sir Hugh de Eure, and his heirs lawfully begotten, with a remainder to his brother, Sir Robert de Eure. The residuary portion of the barony probably remained vested in her husband, and after his death was granted to his sons Hugh and Robert. In 1290 King Ed. I. confirmed to Sir Hugh de Eure the manors of Stokesley and Ingleby. He was one of the executors of the will of John de Balliol, founder of Balliol College, Oxford.

Sir Hugh was succeeded by his son Sir John de Eure of Stokesley and Ingleby. In 1304 he "granted, remised, and wholly quit-claimed, for himself and his heirs for ever, to the abbey of St. Hilda at Whitby, the Church of Kirkeby in Cleveland, and all its appurtenances."* In 1306 he obtained a grant of free warren in his manor of Easby in Cleveland. In 1309 he was sheriff of Yorkshire, and in 1315 was certified as lord of the manors of Stokesley, Ingleby, Easby, Battersby and Kirby in Cleveland.

Sir John de Eure, who died in 1393, was one of the principal warriors of his time, and at his death was constable of Dover Castle, and Lord Steward of the king's house.

His son, Sir Ralph, held the appointments of sheriff of Northumberland, governor of the castle of Newcastle upon Tyne, sheriff of Yorkshire, and constable of York Castle. In 1410 Langley, Bishop of Durham, gave him a licence to fortify his castle at Witton.

Sir William Eure was married in 1411, at the age of 15, to Matilda, dau. of Henry, Lord Fitzhugh, of Ravensworth. Sir Ralph, his son, was sheriff of Yorkshire in 1445, and was killed at Towton Field in 1461. He married Eleanor, dau. of Ralph, baron of Greystoke.

The next holder of the estates, Sir William Eure, was sheriff of York in 1483. In 1497 he obtained a dispensation for his marriage to his second wife, Constance, widow of Sir Henry Percy, of Bamborough, to whom he was twice related in the third degree.

Sir Ralph Eure was sheriff of Northumberland in 1504, and of Yorkshire in 1506 and 1510. His son, Sir William, was Sheriff of Northumberland in 1527, captain of the town and castle of Berwick-upon-Tweed in 1538, and was created Lord Eure of Witton in 1543.

His son, Sir Ralph Eure, was constable of Scarborough castle in 1537, in which year he defended it with his household servants only against the rebels in the Pilgrimage of Grace, living for nearly 20 days on little more than bread and water. In return for these services he was made Warden of the Marches, "and," says Mr. Grose, "did so many valiant exploits against the Scots in Teviotdale that the king gave him a grant of all lands he could win from them." Upon the dissolution of Whitby Abbey the Rectorial rights of Ingleby were granted to him. He was M.P. for Scarborough 1542-5. He married Margery, dau. of Sir Ralph Bowes of

* In this year he also quit-claimed to Johanna (not John as stated by Ord, and at page xx ante) de Percy, Prioress of Basedale, lands, &c. at Ingleby Greenhow, &c.

Streatlam. He was slain by the Scots at Halidon Hill in 1545, and was buried in Melrose Abbey.

William, who succeeded his grandfather as the 2nd Lord Eure, was born Feb. 27, 1534. In 1541, while he was still only ten years old, he was married at Ensham, near Oxford, to Mary, dau. of Lord D'Arcy, a child of four years of age. The marriage entered upon at so early a period of life did not turn out happily; and in 1554, when he was 24 and she 17, a divorce was decreed between them at Durham. He afterwards married Margaret, dau. of Sir Edward Dymock of Scrivelsby, co. Linc., and champion of England. In 1552 he was warden of the Middle Marches, and was afterwards captain of Berwick upon Tweed. By his will, dated Dec. 22, 1592, he bequeathed £1500 to his son to build a house at Jarrow upon Tyne. He was buried at Ingleby in 1593, his wife Margaret having been buried there two years previously. In the "North Riding Records" his name occurs as chairman of Quarter Sessions in Yorkshire in 1586, his son Ralph being at the same time upon the bench.

Ralph, the 3rd Lord Eure, was born in Berwick Castle, Sept. 24, 1558. He was warden of the Middle Marches in 1586, Sheriff of Yorkshire in 1593, Lord President of the Council in the Principality of Wales in 1607, ambassador to the Emperor Rudolph II., and to the King of Denmark in 1603. He sold Ingleby to Sir David Foulis in 1609, and died April 1, 1617. He married, 1st, about 1577, Mary dau. of Sir John Dawnay of Sessay, and 2nd, in 1612, Elizabeth dau. of Sir John Spencer and widow of Lord Hunsdon, who died about a month before him, and was buried at Westminster. His brother, Sir Francis, was Chief Justice of North Wales about 1610, and Sir William was M.P. for Scarborough in 1601.

After the sale of Ingleby the Eure family continued to live at Stokesley. They had also a house at Easby. In the list of Recusants presented at the Quarter Sessions in April 1611 occurs the following entry:—"Stokesley. Sir William Eure, Knt., and his ladie [R. 3 mo.]"*

In the record of the Sessions of July 9th in the same year there is the following entry:—"Stokesley. Sir Will. Eure (40), and Dame Kath. his wife (30) have not repaired unto their parishe church, nor, to our knowledge, to any other church, chappell, or usual place of Common Prayer to heare Divine Service, according &c., for the space of 12 monethes, Margt., dau^r of the said Sir Will. (9), Margery Tare (24), servant to the said Lady Eure, Will. Vanderhay (40), servant to the said Sir Will. Eure."* Again in the account of the Sessions held at Helmsley on July 8, 1614, we have the following "Sir William Eure, about 44, and Lady Katherin his wife, 40, each Rec. 7 years." On this last occasion the name of Sir William Eure occurs as Chairman of the Sessions. Under date July 9, 1616, there is a similar entry.†

William Eure, son of the fourth Lord Eure, was a colonel in the army of Charles I, and was killed at the battle of Marston Moor in 1645.

The following extract from Thoresby's Diary is printed in Ord's "History of Cleveland."‡ "Oct. 22. Afternoon at aunt Syke's. Had the opportunity of perusing several papers of her uncle, the last Lord Eure. By the extinction of the elder line of this ancient family, the barony of Eure descended to the posterity of Sir Francis Eure, who died in 1621. This branch had become reduced; and it appears by one of De Neuve's MSS. at the Museum, that Sampson and Ralph Eure were woolen-drappers in London. Ralph succeeded to the title, which became extinct at his death, 29th April, 1707."

* "North Riding Records," Vol. III., pp. 68, 76. † Ibid. Vol. II., p. 141. ‡ P. 397.

In Stokesley Church is the following inscription:—"Near this place lyeth the body of Elizabeth Hornby, daughter of Richard Hornby, who was granddaughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Walker of Easby, who was one of the co-heiresses of the Right Hon. Lord Ralph Eure, Baron Eure, of Witton in Durham. She died the 26th of August, 1739, aged 12 years and 8 months."

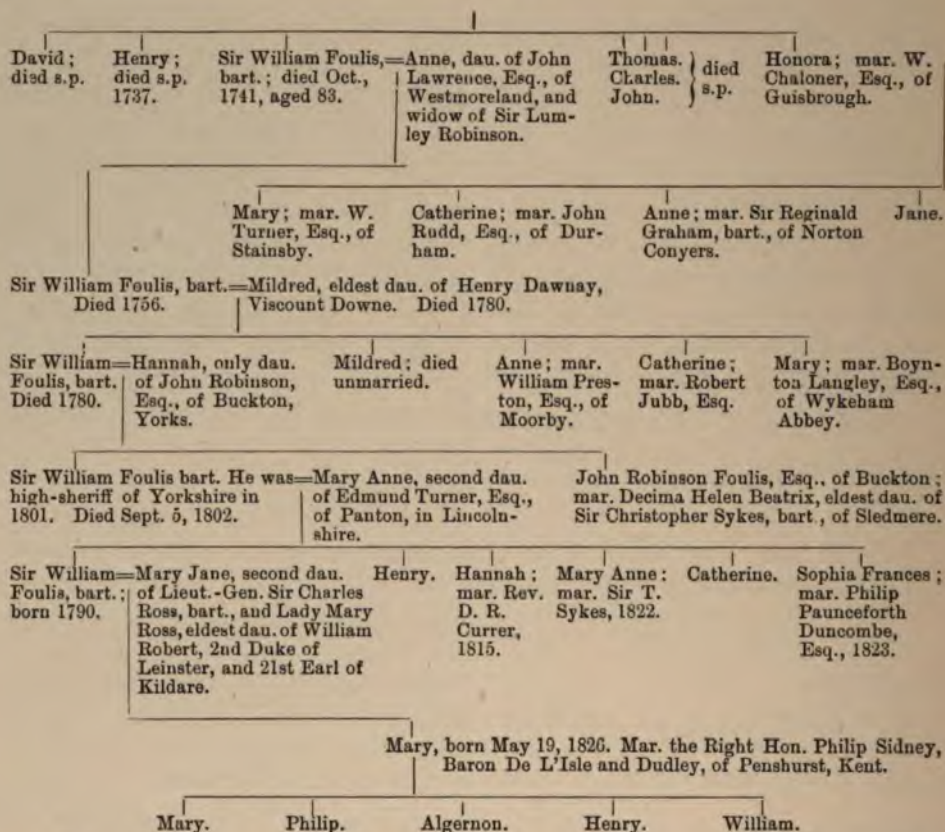

Several entries respecting the family of Eure will be found in the register between the dates of 1574 and 1602.

FOULIS OF INGLEBY MANOR.*

ARMS: Arg., three laurel or bay leaves erect, proper. CREST: on a wreath, out of a crescent, Arg., a cross formé, fiché, sable.

* This pedigree is taken principally from Ord's "History of Cleveland," pp. 432, 433.

The entries respecting this family in the Ingleby Registers will be found to be very numerous.

Ord* says "the family were originally Saxon, and had considerable possessions in Kent; but opposing the Conqueror, fled into Scotland with Edgar Atheling, and gave their name to a town."

Sir David Foulis, the purchaser of Ingleby, was the son of James Foulis, Esq., of Colinton, near Edinburgh. He was employed by James VI. of Scotland in several commissions to Queen Elizabeth, and became cofferer to his sons, Henry and Charles.† In 1603 he was knighted, and having accompanied King James to England, was by him created a baronet in 1619. In 1609 he purchased from Ralph, Lord Eure, "the manors of Ingleby and Battersby, the manor-houses, the fallow deer park, and the red deer park, with the rectory and church of Ingleby, and lands in Ingleby, Battersby, and Greenhough." King James conferred upon him the manors of Greenhow, Great Ayton and Templehurst. He usually lived at Ingleby, and was a magistrate, deputy-lieutenant, and one of the King's counsel for the Northern Parts. On account of his opposition to the measures of Lord Wentworth he was brought before the Court of the Star-Chamber in 1633. He was stripped of his dignities, imprisoned in the Fleet, and condemned to pay a fine of £5000 to the King, and £3000 to Lord Wentworth. In order to raise the amount of this fine he was obliged to sell the manor of Great Ayton, the purchaser being Christopher Coulson of London. His son and heir, Henry, was also condemned by the Star-Chamber to pay £500, and was committed to the Fleet during the King's pleasure. Sir David married Cordelia, daughter of William Fleetwood, Esq., of Great Missenden in Buckinghamshire, sergeant at law, and Recorder of London in Queen Elizabeth's time. Sir David died at Ingleby Manor in 1642, and was buried in the church.

At the time of the wars of the Commonwealth, Sir Henry Foulis was one of the Commissioners for Yorkshire, when the Parliament passed an "Ordinance for the speedy Raising and Levying of Money," and he was afterwards proclaimed traitor by the Earl of Cumberland, acting on behalf of the king. His brother, Robert Foulis, was also a Colonel in the army of the Commonwealth.

Under date of April 5, 1635, will be found in the Ingleby Registers an entry of the baptism of Henry, son of Sir Henry Foulis. On page 44 of Ord's "History of Cleveland" are given some particulars of his life. His earlier years were spent partly in Scotland, and partly in Yorkshire. Afterwards he matriculated at Queen's College, Oxford, where he remained till he took the degree of M.A. In 1659 he was elected fellow of Lincoln College. He subsequently took the degree of B.D. In the "Life of Anthony A. Wood," under date of Dec. 24, 1669, we have the following mention of him: "His acquaintance and deare friend, Henry Foulis, bac. of div. and subrector of Lincolne Coll., died between four and five of the clock in the afternoon. He left behind him a large studie of books, which being afterwards to be sold, A. W. did, for the most part, make a catalogue of them, at the desire of Thomas Law and John A'Court, Masters of Arts, and fellows of the said college. He ended his days in the prime of his years, occasioned by a generous and good-natured intemperance."

The larger of his two works is entitled "The History of Romish Treasons and Usurpations: Together with a Particular Account of many gross Corruptions and Impostures in the Church of Rome, Higly dishonourable and injurious to Christian Religion. To which is Prefixt A Large Preface to the Romonists. Carefully collected out of a great number of their own approved Authors, By Henry Foulis, B.D. Late Fellow of Lincolne-Colledge in Oxford." It was printed at London in 1671, two years after his death. He expects to be "branded as the greatest of liars of slanderers" for what he says about the Church of Rome, but he justifies his hostile attitude by making quotations from above 200 Romanist authors.

His other Work is entitled "The History of the Wicked Plots and Conspiracies of Our Pretended Saints: Representing The Beginning, Constitution, and Designs of the Jesuite, with the Conspiracies, Rebellions, Schisms, Hypocrisie, Perjurie, Sacriledge, Seditions, and Vilefying humour of some Presbyterians: Proved By a Series of Authentic Examples, as they have been Acted in Great Brittain, From the beginning of that Faction to this Time. By Henry Foulis, Mr. of Arts, and Fellow of Lincoln-Colledge in Oxford." It was printed at London in 1662. The dedication is as follows, "To his Loving Brother S^r David Foulis Baronet; of Ingleby-Mannor in Cleaveland, in the North-Riding of Yorkshire; and his Vertuous Consort, the Lady Catharine Foulis.

"Dear Brother, and Madam, If it had not been the Custome, to eeke out every Pamphlet, with some Dedicatory Paper; I should have done, as some people do with their Brats, let them lie to the Patronage of any, that would take them up. For I could never yet understand, the Advantage of the Common Cry, viz. the craving and desiring Protection: Since a Good Book is its own Patronage; and no man will have a better Opinion of the Bad, for a few Epistolary lines to a Third person; Especially of late times, when I have known some Presbyterians dedicate Wickedness itself to God Almighty, Treason to the King, Sacriledge and Schism to Bishops, and the worst of Villanies to Good Men.

"Though I love good Company, yet me thinks there is no Perfect Enjoyment with those, whose Greatness is rather an Awe than Society to the rest; where Flattery is an obligation, though the Object merit nothing but Pity or Scorn.

"But here the Case is altered, the Neerness of Relation, Familiarity and Acquaintance, making all Commendations, Ridiculous; and Complements, Odious. Which is the Reason, that, at This Time, your Names are here Prefixt, by

Your ever loving Brother

HEN. FOULIS."

Linc. Coll. Oxford,

23. April, 1662.

Anthony A. Wood in his "History and Antiquities of the University of Oxford" (Bk. II., p. 169), says of this book that, "though full of notable girds, it yet hath been so pleasing to many, that they have chained it to desks in some countrey churches, to be read by the vulgur." Wood also says, "he had laid the foundations of other books, as I myself have seen, and as he often hath told me; but the day before he departed he committed them to the flames." He was only 33 when he died, and was buried in the chancel of St. Michael's Church, Oxford.

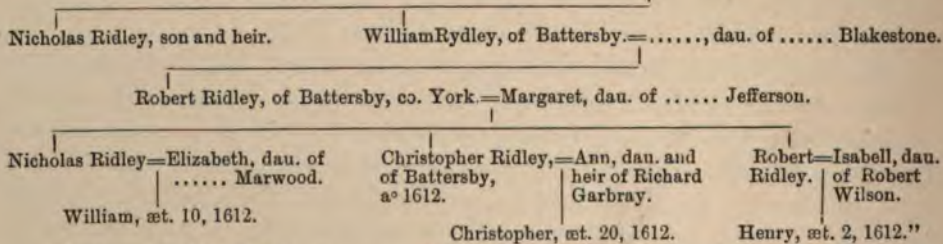

Several of the members of the family of Foulis are buried at Ingleby, and there is a family vault under the chancel of the church, but we have no monuments in memory of any of them.

RIDLEY OF BATTERSBY.

The following pedigree of this family is taken from St. George's Visitation of Yorkshire in 1612.*

"ARMS:—Argent, on a mount vert a bull gules.

Sir Nicholas Ridley, of Willemoteswick=

Nicholas Ridley, D.D., burnt at the stake, 16 Oct., 1555, and Sir Matthew White Ridley, Bart., belong to this family. Entries relating to the Ridleys will be found in the Ingleby Registers under dates 1592, 1595, 1602, 1609, and 1639 (bis).
